BURIED MAN'S OWN STORY OF RESCUE

Beethoven and the King. Money by Airplane. Artistic Russia. Phoning Across the Ocean

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1927, by Star Co.)

THE FRENCH government recently celebrated officially the one hundredth anniversary of Beethoven's birth, the Beethoven concerts were given, with representatives of the government attending. The fact that Beethoven was of German blood, and that the Germans recently killed a good many Frenchmen, made no difference. The French have common sense.

The two greatest Germans ever born, Beethoven and Goethe, were walking side by side, Beethoven with his head down and his hands behind his back. The king and queen came walking in the opposite direction. Goethe stepped aside to let them pass, removing his hat. Beethoven walked straight ahead, the king and queen separated to let Beethoven pass between them. Very likely he did not see them.

London bankers are shipping gold by flying machine. It costs more than by railroad or steamship travel, but gold on its travels earns no interest. The time and interest saved by flying machine more than pays the extra cost.

One British airplane manufacturer, Sir Samuel Instone says, "In one year we carried ten million pounds across the channel. The interest on ten million pounds amounts to a great deal of money, even for a little while. We shall learn to use flying machines, commercially and for passenger traffic over here eventually.

We may even wish some day that we had taken the trouble to build a fighting air fleet.

Russia is trying to make her people musically artistic, as we are trying to make ours SOBER by law.

The latest Russian regulation forbids sale of phonograph jazz dance records. Such music, bolshevism says, is "bourgeois music." That would puzzle African savages that danced to such music long before the bourgeoisie was invented.

Regulating the growth of human tastes, ideas and languages by law is one of the most harmful of human contrivances.

The Academy, that strictly limits and regulates the use of the French language, has made of French a most precise language, perfect for diplomacy, but has greatly diminished its beauty and power. The French of Anatole France cannot compare with that of Villon, and because German and English have developed without any academic straitjacket, both are far superior to French in beauty and in literature.

Many Frenchmen of genius, to mention only Corneille and Racine, were hampered by the three classical units of time,

'I WANT TO GET HOME AND FIX THAT WELL,' HIS CHIEF THOUGHT

Worcester, Aug. 27.—"I want to get home and fix that well," were the first words today of Fred Lenneau, Auburn mill worker, on being told at City Hospital that he had escaped without serious injury after being snatched from the jaws of death in the bottom of a 40-foot well.

Recovering from one of the most gruesome experiences a man can undergo, when for 31 hours, in physical and mental agony he urged on the frenzied efforts of rescuers, digging him out from under tons of earth, Lenneau's chief thought was to resume the work which nearly caused his death.

For what seemed a lifetime he was pinned in the well, his hopes constantly being dashed as successive cave-ins attended the struggles of his rescuers, only to rise again as they redoubled their efforts.

On a cot in the Worcester City Hospital, where it was discovered that aside from a score of bruises he had escaped injury, Lenneau told his own story for the first time since his rescue, to the Boston Evening American.

Lenneau was rushed to the hospital this morning when, amid cheers from the assembled populace,

HUB GROOM VANISHES ON EVE OF HIS WEDDING

On the eve of his marriage to Miss Anna Halperin of Harrishof street, Roxbury, Dr. Morris Levin, Tremont street chiropodist, is missing.

While his fiancee was searching anxiously in Greater Boston hospitals today, believing he might have been an accident victim, a letter from the young doctor to his father dispelled much of the mystery.

The father, Benjamin Levin read from the letter and burst into tears over his son's act. The missive was written at a New York hotel, but gave no other clue to the whereabouts of the missing man.

The wedding of Miss Halperin and Dr. Levin, who is 29 years old and lives in Emerald street, was to take place Sept. 5. Only Wednesday he filed intentions at City Hall in application for a marriage license.

"My boy, my boy! He had no need to go away, for I would have helped him," cried the elder Levin as he read the unexpected message from New York. "If I could only find him I would send him money."

"I am sorry for you all, but sorriest for Anna," meaning his fiancee, young Levin wrote. "She is the most wonderful girl in the world and I will never keep company with another, but I will always keep her memory sacred with me," another paragraph read.

Dr. Levin in his letter asserted that "I made this awful nest for

PLANES TO SEARCH FOR REDFERN AT BAHAMAS

Miami, Fla., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Preparations were being made here today by Edward Niranier, head pilot of the Biscayne fliers, leading commercial aviation unit in these waters, to send three seaplanes to the Bahamas and as far South as Turks Island to search for the Port of Brunswick, the monoplane piloted by Paul Redfern which hopped off Thursday from Brunswick, Ga., for South America. Weather conditions were reported favorable for the searching party by Richard W. Gray, U. S. meteorologist in Miami, who based his report on information obtained from ships at sea.

Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The second day has passed since Paul R. Redfern, Georgia flier, hopped off here on his projected flight to Brazil without definite word of his progress.

If he maintained his schedule his monoplane, the Port of Brunswick, should be travelling today over the jungle stretches of the Amazon

POLICE DEFIED ON SACCO FUNERAL

Police mobilization orders, placing all Boston policemen on duty for the Sacco-Vanzetti funeral procession tomorrow and calling on 50 mounted State policemen and 46 State detectives for similar duty, were issued today.

Orders went out following a one-hour conference at police headquarters of Superintendent Michael H. Crowley of the Boston department, Captain Thomas E. Bligh, chief of State detectives, and Captain Charles T. Baupre, head of the uniformed force of State Constabulary.

The Boston police riot and tear bomb squads will be on active duty, beginning at 7:45.

All days off of patrolmen were cancelled and the reserve force of men off duty will be employed on special service in the streets of the city and in emergency detachments at the downtown police stations.

Twenty additional men were added to the plain clothes squad of inspectors and special officers who will follow the procession as it passes through the streets. All members of the two traffic divisions will report for duty as on week days.

At roll-call tomorrow morning, final instructions will be given to the uniformed patrolmen. No details of the distribution of State police were announced, but it is understood they will guard the State House and other State property.

WORLD FLIERS OFF ON OCEAN HOP TO ENGLAND

Harbor Grace, N. F., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The monoplane Pride of Detroit hopped off for Croydon, England, at 5:14 a. m., Eastern standard time.

The Stinson-Detroiter, which carries William S. Brock, pilot, and Edward F. E. Shiles, Detroit business man, is off on the first leg of an attempt to set a new record for a trip around the world.

Arriving yesterday afternoon from Old Orchard, Me., the plane was refueled and made ready for a start today to take advantage of the splendid weather which had attended the flight thus far. Dawn today again found the weather well nigh perfect. A light wind blew from the northwest at about 10

COAST GUARDS SEEK 5 MISSING FISHERMEN

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Coast guardsmen today were instructed to be on the lookout for the Gloucester fishing schooner Paul Revere, which has not been heard from since Tuesday.

It is feared she was lost in the storm Wednesday. The crew numbers five men.

St. John's, N. F., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—With the communication to the north shore points partially restored after Thursday's storm, reports of wrecks and drownings reaching here today led authorities to fear that the toll among the fishermen and the fleet of coastal and fishing vessels will reach large figures. Ten bodies have so far been recovered and nothing has been heard from the Labrador fleet.

'I WAN'T TO GET BACK AND FIX THAT WELL,' SAYS CAVE-IN VICTIM

Their Patience Rewarded ~ As Crowd Cheers ~ Rescued Well Victim

TELLS HIS STORY IN HOSPITAL

he was raised from the well which nearly became his tomb, after many hours of herculean labor on the part of the rescuers.

At first, fearing internal injuries, because Lenneu's complaint of abdominal pains, the physicians subjected him to an X-ray examination which revealed that no serious harm had been done the man.

WANTS TO FIX WELL

The pains cleared up under treatment, and a partial paralysis of the left arm was expected to be eliminated as circulation was restored.

"I want to get back home and fix that well." Lanneau said when asked to tell his story of the happening which aroused Worcester county and the entire East. "I though I was a dead one when the sand and dirt fell in all directions, pinning me under a lot of boards.

"I was pinned right hand up, left hand down. The boards pressed against my stomach so hard I was in terrible pain, and during the first hours of my imprisonment I couldn't move my head.

"My wife was the first to hear my cries for help. It seemed I was crying: 'Help! Help!' for a year before she answered.

"She came to the top of the well and said: 'Where are you, Fred?'

"I said: 'I guess I'm a dead one. Hurry up and get every one you can and get me out of here.'

"I THOUGHT I'D DIE"

"It seemed like eternity before the first of the rescue party arrived, and, believe me, I felt cheered when I saw them get to work. I realized all along that if they didn't hurry I'd die.

"It was a long 30 hours, but perhaps it's my own fault in a way that I was down there. I had lowered a large piece of cement pipe into the hole. The rope gave way, and when the pipe struck the bottom it loosened the earth all around the well.

"I was too brave in going down after that, because the sand was falling from the top, and I felt I was taking a long chance in going down to get the pipe. When I reached the bottom, the fall of sand and earth from the top came down heavier, and I decided it was time to get out of there. I climbed about five feet, then an avalanche of dirt and sand crashed in on me, throwing me back the five feet I had made, and almost burying me alive. I lost my senses just for one second.

EYES NEVER CLOSED

"I started crying for help and never thought for a moment that my voice would reach the top, let alone be heard by anyone. Not once during the time I was at the bottom of the well did I close my eyes. I heard every sound and move made by my rescuers. I tried hard to help myself, but the boards pressed so hard against me that was impossible.

"I hope that this never happens again. I am most grateful to all my rescuers. I was thrilled when I reached the top and saw so many people. I didn't realize that I had caused so much excitement.

"While I was in the well I was much cheered by Rev. Father A. R. O'Grady and by Dr. Richard J. Shanahan, the police surgeon.

"Every time there was a cave-in, and there were many, my hopes would be dashed. Then I would hear them working again and my hopes would rise. It went on like that until they got me out."

"WHERE'S MY SHOE?"

Lanneau had an affecting reunion with his wife who was waiting for him in the ambulance to which he was carried on a stretcher after being taken from the well.

"Oh, Fred, how are you?" Mrs. Lanneau sobbingly inquired.

"I'm all right," the husband replied. "I hope it never happens again. Where is my shoe," referring to the loss of one of his shoes in the well.

More than 10,000 persons, drawn from all parts of New England, were present when the mill worker was raised from the depths of the well where he had lain helpless since shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday night.

HAULED TO SAFETY

"Thank God, thank God, they saved me," were the first words of the rescued man.

The shoring of the well formed an arch over the head of the imprisoned man and thereby prevented tons of earth from crushing out his life. For hours and hours the rescuers dug frenziedly, with frequent avalanches occurring to make their task greater. At midnight a rope was secured around Lanneau's waist, to prevent him from slipping down, and shortly more than a half hour later he was hauled to safety through a tunnel which rescuers had dgiven to his side.

CARDINAL TO PRESIDE AT MASS IN ANDOVER

Andover, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Cardinal O'Connell of Boston will preside at the solemn high mass Sunday in St. Augustine's Church in celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of the parish.

The Very Rev. Charles M. Driscoll of Philadelphia, recently assistant general of the Augustinian Order in Rome, will celebrate the mass. The sermon will be preached by the Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Mahoney, bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D. The papal blessing will be conferred upon the faithful by the pastor, the Rev. Charles A. Sqquoia.

FEARS HIS WIFE WAS KIDNAPED OR ROBBED

Fearing his wife had met with an accident or had been the victim of holdup or kidnaping, Albert Walters of No. 43 Lineaan street, Cambridge, today appealed to the police to aid him in searching for her.

The wife, Mrs. Frances Walters, left home early last evening in her automobile, to go to Andover. She failed to arrive there and no word has been received from her.

Walters informed police inspectors that she had valuables in the automobile. Police departments of the various cities and towns between Cambridge and Andover have been notified to search for the woman.

She is 25 years old, about five feet six inches tall, and is of slender build.

RAIN, RAIN AND RAIN, PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY

Cloudy skies, subnormal temperatures and frequent rains drives by coasting northeast winds are predicted by the local weather man to bid a wet and gusty farewell to the last August week-end of 1927.

Rain was falling steadily today from the Virginia Capes to Maine, while breakers off the New England coast were whipped to foam by high winds blowing from 30 to 40 miles an hour.

Cold weather has settled over all the districts east of the Mississippi River and hugging it closely on its western edge an extensive area of low barometric pressure presages additional rain.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Cloudy, with rain tonight and Sunday; continued cool; fresh to strong northeast winds.

BOY AND SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER HELD IN MURDER

Newport News, Va., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Eighteen-year-old Arthur Peterson of this city, in an alleged confession to the police, told of killing S. A. Rudd, 65, to obtain money so he and his friends could stage "a big party" at a beach resort near here. The confession implicated a friend, Comsby Donaldson, said to be a local Sunday school teacher. Both are held on charges of murder. Rudd's body was found in his feed store, his badly beaten head pillowed on a sack of grain. He was stabbed twice in the breast. His body had been stripped in a search for a money belt.

Asleep at the Wheel, Man Wakes Up in Auto Wreck

The Revere police discovered today that the nightmare travels by automobile as well as the old-time feather bed route, when Patrolman Cornelius Cronin was called to the Revere end of the Lynn marsh road to investigate an automobile accident.

He found Arthur Marks of Falcon street, East Boston, separating himself from the wreckage of a sedan wrapped around one of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway trolley poles.

"I was asleep and woke up in this mess," Marks told the officer.

He was only shaken up and continued his trip to Lynn by the Narrow Gauge, safe from galloping automobile nightmares.

LEVINE IN FIGHT WITH YANKEE IN PARIS

Paris, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Charles A. Levine, who flew to Germany with Clarence Chamberlin and who hopes to fly back to the United States with Maurice Drouhin, engaged in a fist fight with another American on the boulevard near the opera today and won. "I never saw the man before, but he insulted me and I took a crack at him. I used to be a boxer," Levine said. His opponent, he said, was named Brock.

U. S. DEMANDS MEXICO SAVE 18 AMERICANS

Washington, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—The reported besieging of eighteen Americans and seven British subjects in their homes near the American-owned Amparo Mining Company's property in the State of Jalisco, Mexico, prompted the State Department today to instruct the American embassy in Mexico City to keep the matter of adequate protection for the Americans well before the Mexican government.

Approval also was cabled for the embassy's action in making representations and demanding protection for American lives and property at Amparo, where a group, described as composing a "Red Syndicate" was said to have occupied the mines and besieged American and British residents.

While President Calles was reported in Mexico City dispatches to have instructed military authorities to protect mine company officials. Up until Friday morning Consul Joseph W. Satterwhite advised the State Department no Mexican troops had arrived on the scene.

The State Department idid not regard this dispatch as necessarily contradicting the Mexico City advices, because it was possible action by the authorities might have been taken after the consul't report was forwarded.

News has also been received that a southbound Southern Pacific of Mexico passenger train from Nogales, Sonora, to Guadalajara, Jalisco, was attacked by a large force of bandits at Colima, Nayarit.

This point is only a few miles from the place where a similar attack Tuesday resulted in the fatal wounding of Miss Anderson.

The dispatch said the engineer refused to stop the train and no known casualties resulted.

VANDERBILT WEDDING PLANNED FOR SEPTEMBER

Paris, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—While William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., of New York, and Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Jr., of Philadelphia are reticent about their plans, it is believed their long-expected marriage will take place sometime during the week of September 4-11 in the Mayor's office of the 16th Ward, Paris. It is thought likely they will sail for the United States aboard the Olympic of September. Their attempt to secure a license secretly without the usual ten days' notice of marriage was frustrated by the authorities.

LEGIONNAIRES SAIL ON THE WINIFREDIAN

Carrying 95 passengers and a large cargo of freight, the S. S. Winifredian sailed from East Boston today for Liverpool and Queenstown. Although the storm was reported severe outside the harbor, officials expressed the hope it would soon clear.

Among the passengers were Dr. Frank L. Morse, city physician of Somerville; H. B. Ehrman of counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti and Mrs. Ehrman. Many of the passengers were American Legion men who will tour England and Scand before going to Paris for the convention.

LOWELL SHERMAN AND HIS WIFE SEPARATE

Los Angeles, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Lowell Sherman of the films and stage, and his wife, Pauline Garon of the films, have separated. Rumors of the domestic break, which have been circulating for some time in Hollywood, were confirmed when a notice was published in a legal journal by Sherman stating he would no longer be responsible for his wife's debts.

They were married in New York Feb. 15, 1926.

STRANGE LOOT IN REVERE ROBBERY

One of the strangest burglaries in the history of the Revere police department was being investigated today by Inspectors John Starkey and Dominick Church of that city.

The victims were the members of the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, whose finely equipped home on Shirley avenue was entered sometime after midnight.

Jimmying the doors, the burglars made away with a large number of musical instruments, uniforms and other articles, including two beautiful stands of American colors and the post flag.

The complete list of stolen articles vending machines, 6 bass drums, 6 consisted of one cash register, 4 snare drums, with drumsticks and covers; a set of 16-inch cymbals, 20 bugles with cords; 9 fifes, 2 large standards, 1 post flag, 12 uniforms and 1 flashlight. The police believe that a truck was used to remove the loot.

The Revere Post is said to be the largest in the State, with one of the best equipped homes, which has been recently painted in camouflage. It possesses a band that has won many prizes.

Inspectors Starkey and Church were working on information which they received through a mysterious telephone call to the effect that the stolen goods might be found in Boston.

16 "DOUGHGIRLS" SAIL FOR PARIS WITH A. E. F.

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—With the strains of "Over There" and cheers of a shipload of American Legion members forming their bon voyage greeting, 16 khaki-clad "doughgirls" of the Salvation Army were bound for Paris today to make again the dough that made them famous.

Headed by Captain Helen Purviance, the "Sallies" sailed on the Cunard liner Lancastria with 750 legionnaires, bound for the legion convention in Paris.

DANCE PARTY IS STRUCK ON CROSSING

Tilton, N. H., Aug. 27.—Four persons, two men and two girls, were killed in a grade crossing accident on the Daniel Webster highway early today when the Red Wing Express, bound from Boston to Montreal, crashed into an automobile which was returning dancers from Tilton to Concord.

The dead are:

Marjorie L. Smith, aged 25, of No 3 Merrimack street, Concord.

Eleanor Smith, aged 26, of Bristol, N. H.

Paul N. Barrier, aged 20, of No. 4532 Front street, Philadelphia.

Lindsay R. Wallace, aged 32, of No. 24 Stone street, Belmont, Mass.

The sedan in which the autoists were riding was carried for more than 200 feet by the locomotive of the express, and all the occupants of the machine were dead when found by the train crew after the express had come to a stop.

The victims of the accident had been at the Weirs dancing. They were returning to Concord in the machine owned by the father of Marguerite Smith.

LAST RITES FOR COUNCILLOR HEFFERNAN

St. Columbkille's Church, Market street, Brighton, was filled and many persons stood out in the rain today when funeral services of John J. Hefternan, president of Boston City Council, were conducted. Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols and former Mayor James M. Curley were among officials who attended.

Members of Brighton Cheverus Assembly, Knights of Columbus, served as a guard of honor at the church and at the grave in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Joseph V. Tracy, pastor of the church; with Rev. John O'Leary of Baltimore, a cousin of Mr. Hefternan, as deacon and Rev. J. W. Mahoney of St. Columkille's as sub-deacon.

Whelan's requiem was sung, with Miss Mary Powers as organist and the following in the choir: Miss Marguerite LaLiberte, Miss Nellie Melville, Miss Catherine Clark and Charles Fetherston.

Ushers were William J. Walsh, city messenger; Frederick Glynn, assisant city messenger, and Howard A. Leahy. Members of the City Council were honorary pallbearers, while active bearers were William Cusack, Edward Cunningham, Frank Carrigan, John Ryan, Thomas McInerney and James McNamara.

In the church were delegations from the Boston Lodge of Elks, Division 49, A. O. H.; St. Columkille's Court, M. C. O. F.; Brighton Council No. 121, Knights of Columbus; a delegation of 40 from the Suffolk Law School, class of 1918. In addition to the Elks' delegation there were Secretary Peter F. McCarron, Vincent Crowley and Charles Winchester.

Among notable individuals present were: Thomas Glynn, former Schoolhouse Commission.r; Edward McLaughlin, former councillor; George Curran, formerly of the Governor's Council; Judge Thomas H. Connelly of Brighton District Court and Mrs. Connelly, Charles Driscoll, Thomas Hurley, chairman of the Street Commission; John O'Callaghan of the same commission, Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge, Judge Edward C. Counihan of Cambridge, Dean Gleason L. Archer of Suffolk Law School, William P. Long, chairman of the Park Commission; James H. Sullivan, Commissioner of Public Works; Thomas S. Sullivan and Louis H. Rourke of the Boston Transit Commission.

"HOME ISN'T LIKE THIS SINCE WE FIRST LEFT IT"
The first "wet" spot on dry land reached by some of the jolly legionnaires after years of aridness back home was the bar on the dock at Cherbourg. There they quenched a thirst which has been growing since they left "over there." A very different Cherbourg they found, with all evidences of war wiped out.

EXERCISES IN NORTH END PARK TO PRECEDE SACCO FUNERAL

ALL POLICE TO BE ON DUTY

Police officials, after giving warning that red flags and placards positively would not be tolerated in the funeral procession, failed in an attempt to get from the defence committee assurance that this edict would be obeyed.

This caused a tense situation that may result in police interference even before the hour set for the funeral.

The attitude of Gardner Jackson, spokesman for the committee, was defiant. He was "out" when Sergeant Robert J. Mooney of Hanover street station arrived at committee headquarters, No. 256 Hanover street, to confer with him.

RED FLAG BANNED

"The police have received information that sympathizers plan to carry red banners and placards," said Mooney, on his way to the committee rooms. "We cannot permit this, and must even prohibit signs in the windows of automobiles in the procession.

"If I cannot get assurance from the committee members that there will be no red flags or signs, I think the leaders will find themselves requested to confer with Superintendent Crowley on the matter."

He waited ten minutes for Jackson and then departed. Jackson stepped in five minutes later. He was informed of Sergeant Mooney's visit.

"Well, I told Sergeant Mooney that I would meet him here if I was not too busy," he replied.

"He wanted to get a promise that there would be no red flags or placards in the procession," a newspaper man told Jackson, who retorted:

"That's the trouble. I don't want to give that promise."

Jackson also asserted that, if called to see the superintendent, he would go if not too busy.

FOR STATE HOUSE ROUTE

He declared that the procession would follow the route originally planned by the committee, passing the State House, regardless of a permit from the Street Commissioners specifying another route.

The permit for the procession stipulated that it keep off Beacon street and go straight along Tremont street to Roxbury Crossing, over Columbus avenue to Eglesion square, out Washington street to Forest Hills, and to Forest Hills Cemetery by way of Hyde Park avenue and Walk Hill street.

A procession through the North End from North End Park to the undertaker's establishment in Hanover street would also be barred under the terms of the permit.

Jackson asserted that the permit was requested and granted on the promise that a band would participate.

CUTS OUT BAND

"We have decided not to have the band, and so the prohibition is nothing more than an ordinary funeral that can take the route it wishes," he declared.

An invitation to all sympathizers to assemble at North End Park tomorrow at 1:30 P. M. has been issued by the committee. It is planned to limit the actual procession when it starts at 2 P. M. from park to 200 persons, so that police authorities cannot term it technically a parade and demand a permit.

Thousands, braving the rain, filed into the little funeral chapel in Hanover street again today to view the bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti, and unusual a strong detail of police was on hand to preserve order.

Hundreds of sympathizers from out of town were expected during the afternoon and evening.

To the profusion of flowers in the chapel, floral pieces were added today by Mary Donovan of the defense committee, Powers Hapgood, who was arrested several times as a State House picket, Rodney shoe workers and "Plymouth mourners."

Automobiles from distant places, including Missouri, Michigan and Louisiana, were stopped at the curb in front of the establishment as tourists joined the line.

Declare Martial Law in Amsterdam Over Sacco Case

London, Aug. 27 (I. N. S.).—Martial law was declared in Amsterdam today by the mayor of the city, owing to the threatening attitude of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers who were attempting to organize a series of demonstrations, according to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

Sacco Friends Defy Police in Plans for N. Y. Parade

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The ashes of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will be paraded through New York streets Monday in defiance of the orders of Police Commissioner Warren.

"Permit or no permit," said Mrs. Clarina Michelson of the Sacco-Vanzetti memorial committee, "the procession will be held," adding she failed to see "how the commissioner could be so brutal" as to deny hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers the right to pay their last respect to "these two murdered radicals." Commissioner Warren has refused a parade permit.

EXPECTS 50,000 IN MARCH

Fifty thousand persons will participate in a meeting and funeral procession, said Mrs. Michelson, gathering late Monday afternoon in Union square shortly after the arrival of the ashes of the executed men from Boston.

The ashes will be borne to a hall as yet unnamed, and to which all workers have been requested to take red carnations to place upon the urns containing the remains of the radicals.

The ashes will lie in state here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at which time Miss Luigi Vanzetti will start for Italy with her brother's remains. Disposition of the ashes of Sacco has not been disclosed by his widow.

POLICE DENOUNCED

Complaints that the police were responsible for their vain efforts to hire a hall for their meeting were made by the committee. Failure to obtain use of a suitable hall resulted in the meeting being transferred to Union square.

Fire in U. S. School Is Blamed on Saccoites

Porto Alegre, Brazil, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers are blamed by the authorities for a fire at a school directed by American professors here yesterday. An investigation has been started to find the guilty parties. Prompt intervention by the police prevented serious damage to the school.

PROBE MYSTERY BLASTS OF 7 BOMBS IN MILL CITY

Henderson, N. C., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—While strike leaders place the blame on irresponsible persons, authorities continued today to be mystified in the investigation of seven bomb explosions, said by police to be part of an intimidation campaign against mill workers who returned to their jobs after walking out in a strike at four cotton mills.

The explosions, reported by the police, include two yesterday, three on Thursday and two on Aug. 19, and the authorities admitted they are without clues. Only the first explosion slightly damaged a house, the others apparently not being intended to cause death or property damage.

FIREMEN QUELL SACCO MOB

Cherbourg, France, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers, two thousand strong, fought a pitched battle with the forces of law and order from 3 o'clock last night until long past midnight in an effort to reach the American consulate.

About fifteen of them attained the goal at midnight, but in charge of policemen who had arrested them, the consulate being transformed into a temporary police station.

Realizing there was no chance of getting the better of the police and soldiers, the others then dispersed.

The mob threw stones at the defenders of the consulate from behind a barricade of coal wagons and barrels but no great harm was done. A large number on both sides received minor hurts, and windows in the district were smashed.

The manifestants were opposed, in addition to the police and soldiers, by mounted gendarmes and firemen. The latter brought their hose into play.

DANCE QUEEN PICKS WINNERS

Providence, R. I., Aug. 27.—Dorothy Britton, the much acclaimed and heralded "Miss Universe of 1927," left here today after selecting as the prize ballroom dancers of Bill Hall's Arcadia, Miss Mary J. Garvis of No. 99 Ashley street, Pawtucket, and Frank Murphy of No. 235 Williams street.

The apostle of pulchritudes selected at the Galveston, Texas, beauty pageant last May in touring the country selecting prize dancers to compete in a national championship dancing contest this Winter in New York.

Loving cups were presented to Miss Jarvis and Frank Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warner of No. 37 Lawn avenue, Pawtucket, were winners in the competition.

Broadcasting through Station WLBI, the dialogue between Miss Britton and Arnaud C. Marsh was:

"Do you smoke and drink?"

"I should say not! It isn't necessary; it isn't wise."

"How did you get that beautiful name?"

"Maybe I was born this way, but if I didn't take care of my appearance or watch my step, physically, I mean, there wouldn't be a Miss Universe in my name, I guess."

"How does it feel to be the queen of the world?"

"I'm still the same, if that's what you mean, but my idea about the general public has been enhanced tenfold. I never knew people were so won-der-ful."

Miss Britton, who is nineteen, is accompanied by her mother on her tour of the country.

AUTO HITS TROLLEY CAR; UNLISTED DRIVER SEIZED

James Murphy, 23, of Cathedral street, South End, was arrested today after an automobile he was driving had crashed into the rear end of a trolley car on Northampton street. Murphy was charged with having no registration. Police say the auto is owned by Mrs. Louisa McMahon of Lambert street, Roxbury.

At Northampton street and Shawmut avenue, according to the police, Murphy picked up a stranger and offered to drive him to Dorvell. They had proceeded only a short distance when the collision occurred. Both men left the machine, but Murphy was arrested by Patrolmen McFeeley and O'Connor.

ONE KILLED, SIX HURT IN DANCE HALL BOMBING

Nice, France, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Seven persons were injured, one of them fatally, by the explosion of bombs thrown from a railroad track into an open-air dancing establishment at Juan-les-Pins, near here.

The bombs fell between dances, otherwise more persons would have been hurt. The dancers fled precipitately, leaving all their effects behind.

Louis Toledo, a Russian, one of the injured, died later.

Mrs. Coolidge And John Waltz to "Bacarolle"

Yellowstone National Park, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The melody of an old-time waltz proved too alluring for Mrs. Coolidge and she accepted an invitation from her son John to dance.

John and Mrs. Coolidge had been looking on at the dance given in the lounge room of the Canyon Hotel.

While the orchestra was playing "The Bacarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," she and John stepped on to the dance floor almost unnoticed by the other dancers. They danced encores to the strains of "My Hero," and "My Gipsy Sweetheart."

CHINESE ARMIES ARE BATTLING

Peking, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Capture of Nanking, former seat of the Nationalist regime under Chiang Kai-Shek, is claimed for General Sun Chuan-Fang's Shantungese army.

Shanghai, China, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The Nationalists (southerners) claim to have driven the northern troops back across the Yangtze river after disarming the majority.

A Peking dispatch today says the capture of Nanking, on the south bank of the Yangtze, is claimed for the northerners.

The Nationalist military authorities state that they have taken over both "the Shanghai-Hangchow and Shanghai-Nanking railways (leading to the northwest and southwest respectively) and repaired the breaks in them.

There is no traffic on either railway line other than troop movements.

100,000 "Glads" to Hospitals

SACCO COUNSEL GOT NEARLY $250,000

Nearly $250,000, or more than one half of the huge fund raised by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee during the last seven years, has been disbursed in legal fees and services among the various lawyers who were retained in the case.

In no other case on record has there been such a lavish expenditure of money in the effort to save two convicted murderers from paying the extreme penalty.

Since the eventful day, early in May, 1920, on which Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti were arrested for the murder of a South Braintree paymaster and his guard, there has been a constant flow of gold into the defense treasury from organizations and individuals in every country in the world. Almost as soon as the stream reached the Boston headquarters, it was diverted into the many channels of activity in behalf of the two men.

FINAL ACCOUNTING.

Immediately after tomorrow's funeral demonstration, the committee will begin the final accounting of its stewardship, the audited report of which will be published in book form. Until that time the executive committee prefers to withhold the exact figures of receipts and expenditures but admits that the total will be a huge one.

A financial report covering the period from May 5, 1920, the date of the defence committee's organization, to July 31, 1925, has already been published and distributed. During that period nearly $300,000 in contributions was received, of which $182,172.36 was disbursed in legal fees and expenses. In the two years that have elapsed since that report was issued the total contributions have increased to more than $450,000, while the legal expenses have mounted in proportion.

MOORE GOT $133,072.36.

The largest amount paid to any single lawyer in the case went to Attorney Fred H. Moore of California, who had charge of the legal defense for four years and resigned after the denial of new trial motions by Judge Webster Thayer. Moore's personal fee was $34,190.08 and his expenses totalled the amazing sum of $98,872.28.

On every page of the initial financial report the name of Fred H. Moore occurs with frequency, as many as six separate payments ranging from $10 to $2,000, having been made to him in a single day.

In the same period several associate attorneys were paid fees that totaled $40,100.

The taking of the case to the higher courts marked the second legal chapter, and the chief defense counsel then was Attorney William G. Thompson, who retained as his assistant Attorney Herbert B. Ehrmann, while associating as Chairman Gardner Jackson of the Defense Committee, Mr. Thompson received $25,000 for his services, which ended in his withdrawal from the case after Governor Fuller, following an extensive investigation, refused to intervene in the sentence of death.

HILL'S FEE UNREVEALED.

The last desperate battle to save Sacco and Vanzetti from death in the electric chair was undertaken by Attorney Arthur D. Hill, assisted by Attorneys Elias Field and Richard C. Ewarts. What fee the committee will pay or has paid Mr. Hill is not known at this time.

Attorney Michael A. Musmanno who became attached to the defense committee four months ago and worked indefatigably with other defense counsel, refused to accept a fee, according to the committee, declaring that his faith in the innocence of Sacco and Vanzetti prompted him to donate his services. Attorneys Arthur Barnhart and Harry Shulman also worked in the last stage of the case without remuneration, it is stated.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Weddings Are Shortly to Engage Attention of Boston's Smart Set.

WITH SEPTEMBER'S ADVENT BOSTON FASHIONABLES contemplate a passing show pleasantly inclusive, a show to which the bride brings an interest radically apart from the prevailing atmosphere of racing, tennis, yachting and horse shows. Soon will pretty young things be swathed in bridal white to walk solemnly altarward. Miss Sarah Frances Bennett, daughter of Henry Dexter Bennett of Brookline, had "set the day" when she and John Franklin Enders will join hands in the holy bonds of matrimony.

MISS VIRGINIA CONWAY, DAUGHTER OF THE EARLE CONWAYS, is another of the pretty young things slated for central place in the bridal picture. She and her mother are just back from Europe, immersed in the countless details that must be arranged and that keep the brides-to-be in a flutter of preparation up to the very moment when the organ peals forth its announcement, "Here Comes the Bride."

THE CONWAYS, PERE ET MERE, WITH THE TWO DAUGHTERS, did their usual European journeying this Summer and, of course, Miss Virginia shopped to her heart's content for bridal things in the world's fashion center. What girl but adores filling her boxes with "things from Paris" in anticipation of her marriage ceremonial. Miss Conway is the type that will be radiant in bridal white. She came out two or three seasons ago, and belongs to the Junior League.

STEAMSHIPS THAT GO SAILING OVER THE SEAS SO MAJESTICALLY and so regularly never point noses out into the stream without some important New England representation aboard. On the steamship France, heading toward France today, go the Baron and Baroness de Lustrac, who have been putting in a New England Summer visit with relatives of the Baroness at York Harbor.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY BROUGHT FROM CHICAGO A DAY or so ago pretty Miss Emily Evatt, who rejoins her parents at the Evatt Summer home in Swampscott, after a Chicago stay. More properly her sojourn was at Lake Forest, smart suburban resort at the Windy City, where Mr. and Mrs. George S. Miller have been entertaining their popular niece. Accomplished, and with the vivacity to charm a train of suitors, Miss Evatt has lived joyously since her debut.

HER SWAMPSCOTT STAY IS, SO I'M TOLD, MERELY AN interlude between arrival from the Windy City and departure for scenes still farther afield. Possibilities at the moment under contemplation include a foreign journey that may occupy some time and cover a goodly portion of the globe. The Evatt family includes beside Miss Emily Evatt a younger sister, Miss Catherine, who left off school studies merely sufficiently long to make her debut. Both girls have found the newly-finished Summer home a delightful spot for week-end house parties.

O' COLOR AND LIFE AND LIGHT THERE WAS NO DEARTH yesterday for the Children's Sunlight Hospital fete day, despite skies of leaden hue and a brisk breeze that blew in off the ocean. All the Scituates and, in fact, the entire South Shore came out to put the Hospital's gala day over with a bang and thus reap great financial rewards for a cherished charity. For an entire dozen of hours, from high noon to midnight, all roads led to the Hatherly Country Club.

DANCING THERE WAS, FOR WHOMSOEVER PLEASED (AND everyone does please these days, from tiny tots to grandmeres). Of course a bazaar went on because astute matrons, eager to fill the coffers of a charity, seek every means to that end. Amusements designed to enchant the very young set had prominent places in the scheme. And grand climax of the affair was the appearance of that Gypsy Band whose fame as entertainers is as far reaching as the Romany trail itself.

EVERYTHING CAME UP TO EXPECTATION, EVEN TO THE amount for the Hospital its promoters desired to realize. They set their goal at a good round sum running into seven figures, and even before the affair took place had realised more than a quarter of the sum on the enormous program. South Shore people round about Scituate have for these many years had the Hospital under a benevolent wing, watching it grow from a tent clinic on the beach to be the Sunlight Repair Shop and thence to a full-fledged hospital for the care of ill or crippled children. A beneficent aim, truly, and well worth the hearty support it enjoys.

BACK IN THE NEWPORT DAYS WHEN MRS. MILTON HOLDEN was Miss Fifi Widener, her flashing smile and genial spirit won all hearts along Bellevue Avenue's aristocratic way. When she was Mrs. Carter Leidy the same popularity held good. And now when she and her present husband, Milton Holden, appear at Bailey's Beach they are hailed with joy by the regulars of that exclusive stretch of sand. The blithesome Fifi and her handsome spouse found time in their Summer schedule for both Newport and Saratoga, the one where society is supreme and the other where King Horse rules.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES DENISON SAWYER MAY ALWAYS BE counted upon to add a significant sartorial note to the gladsome picture at Bailey's Beach. Mrs. Sawyer's frocks, hats and accessories are the last work in chic, as well as serving admirably to set off her chatsigne coloring. Before she was Mrs. James Denison Sawyer she was wife to the late Howard Cushing, who was cut off in mid career by the Reaper. There is a lovely young daughter, Miss Lily Cushing, who adorned the social field in both Boston and New York during coming out year.

AFTER HAVING BEEN FORMALLY LAUNCHED THIS SUMMER in Newport, Miss L. Romaine Bristow looks forward to a metropolitan season of utmost gayety during which she comes to Boston for a series of parties sponsored by devoted kinfolk. Miss Bristow's Boston affiliations include the Thoman Gannets and the B. H. Bristow Drapers and her parents are the William Bristows of New York and Newport. As she leaves Bailey's after a dip in the surf the camera caught her, with William Turnbull in attendance.

Pick Neilan to Direct Colleen Moore's Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS.

Los Angeles, Aug. 27.

MARSHALL NEILAN has been won over to the idea of directing Colleen Moore in "I'll Tell the World." I say won over because Mickey had set his heart on making "Hell's Angels" and had everything set to direct it for Howard Hughes.

But with the Colleen Moore picture all ready to be filmed, Mickey decided to postpone his "Hell's Angels" and sign with First National.

Mickey and Colleen are a good combination. She can play the sort of comedy drama that he directs so well, and if Mickey will settle right down and go to work he can make a picture that will have everyone applauding.

John McCormick is temporarily back at First National. I mean he has offices there. No one seems to know just where Colleen will make her next picture—probably at the Metropolitan Studios.

William Powell, George Bancroft and other movie crooks had better watch their step. Conrad Nagel, the model young man of the movies, has been signed to play the lead in "The Girl From Chicago," a crook melodrama by Arthur Somers Roche. Conrad, who has heretofore refrained from crooking sares, robbing jewelry stores, et cetra, was selected for the part by Warner Brothers following his good work in "Slightly Used."

I say good work without feeling that I am being overly enthusiastic, for Roxie has signed "Slightly Used" for his new theatre.

"The Girl From Chicago" not only marks an innovation for Conrad by giving him his first taste of being a wicked young man, but it is Myrna Loy's first chance as a leading lady.

There is a little rumor circulating around that Norman Kerry will play opposite Greta Carbo in "The Divine Woman." This is an adaptation from "Starlight."

I suppose most people would enjoy seeing Jack Gilbert as Greta's leading man, but, alas, "The Comback" calls him.

Monta Bell is great on realism. He collected city editors, night editors, reporters and anyone who could be spared from the various Los Angeles dailies to play a scene in "Fires of Youth," Jack Gilbert's next picture.

There is talk that if Constance Talmadge hadn't been given "Sunny" Mary Pickford would have liked to make it. But as soon as Mary heard that Joseph Schenck had definitely promised Connie, she refused to consider "Sunny."

The appearance of Elmer Pearson, general manager of the Pathe Company, in Hollywood, has given rise to some very interesting rumors. I have heard it said that the Dupont millions are ready to buy Pathe and Pearson is here to talk to some of local producers about the advisability of selling the company.

LITA DEMANDS GUARDIANSHIP

Los Angeles, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Lita Grey Chaplin, who recently won an interlocutory decree of divorce from Charlie Chaplin, has filed a petition in Superior Court asking that she be appointed guardian of the estate of her two minor children, Sidney Earle and Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr.

The estate involves proceeds of a $100,000 trust fund to be established by the children's father. The principal, $100,000 for each boy, will be delivered to them when Sydney Earle, a little more than a year old, reaches the age of 35. Charles Spencer, Jr., is a year older than his brother.

COOLIDGE ENDS TRIP TO PARK

Grand Canyon, Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., Aug. 27 (I.N.S.).—A glorious week in America's show spot behind him, President Coolidge left here this morning for Cody Wyo., there to board his special train for the return trip to the Summer White House in the Black Hills.

The schedule has been arranged to enable him to attend services Sunday at Hermosa, S. D., as usual.

"I have enjoyed every minute of it," declared the President, as he bade H. M. Albright, superintendent of Yellowstone Park, goodbye.

The trip to Cody was made by motor. A brief stop was made there before boarding the train to enable the President to visit the monument to Buffalo Bill, famous scout for whom the town was named.

W. C. T. U. WILL KNIFE ANY WET

Minneapolis, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—With one prospective presidential candidate already openly condemned for the platform and the task set for all candidates refusing to become avowed prohibitionists, members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union planned today to shape their program for the next year.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri was the first person among the presidential possibilities to draw fire from the platform. He was attacked by a fellow Missourian as being unworthy of the support of the union because of his alleged "wet" tendencies.

The speaker was Mrs. Nellie Burger, president of the Missouri W. C. T. U. "I cannot visualize the man whom I saw before the Senate committee hearing making demonstrations and explaining the easy processes of distilling liquor and the ease of the violation of the Volstead law serving as President of the United States," she said.

place and action, as much as a Chinese girl's feet by her little shoes.

Men, music, language and habits GROW and cannot be manufactured by arbitrary law.

Young men and older ones interested in radio and in science consider this interesting fact, supplied by Mr. Blume, the head of the Great Western Electric Company, which spends more than ten million dollars a year in scientific laboratory experiments alone.

Mr. Blume's company supplies the mechanism for telephoning across the Atlantic ocean. The telephoning must stop at 1 o'clock by New York city time, when it is 6 o'clock in London. The reason is that as the sun goes down and the shadows fall, talking through the air becomes difficult or impossible. Scientists do not know WHY that is. If you can tell why, you will add to human knowledge.

You read in a Kansas newspaper of the proud achievement of two dogs. In one night they killed one hundred sheep, injured two hundred others so that many of them will die, causing the farmer a loss of twenty-five hundred dollars.

And the two dogs were worth considerably less than ten cents, probably, except for soup fat.

There is intelligence lacking somewhere in a country that has more dogs than sheep, when the dogs are useless and the sheep keep down weeds, feed and clothe millions. This a beautiful country.

Twenty-two million automobiles are running in the United States now, and 5,000,000 more will be built by the end of 1927. If an ice age came upon us suddenly (fortunately ice ages never do that) the entire population of the United States could all travel South at one time in cars now running.

JAPAN PRAYING ROYAL BABY WILL BE A BOY

Tokyo, Japan, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—All Japan is anxiously awaiting the imperial birth which is expected momentarily. A large corps of imperial physicians is in attendance on the Empress, issuing bulletins twice daily on her condition which has been pronounced excellent.

Thousands of persons are praying daily in front of the palace and in temples throughout the Empire. Everywhere there is fervent hope that the child will be a boy. More than 100 newspapermen are standing guard at the palace day and night, ready to get the news to their papers as quickly as possible.

When the baby is born, the imperial cannon, will discharge two shots for a girl and one for a girl.

Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako who were married in January, 1924, have one child, a daughter, born in December, 1925. Hirohito was regent at the time.

PICK EX-GOV. BRYAN TO STAND FOR PRESIDENT

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—"Bryan for President" may echo through another national political campaign. Charles W. Bryan, former Governor of Nebraska and a candidate for Vice-President in 1924, has been endorsed for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928 by the Nebraska Democratic Club.

Mr. Bryan, at Lincoln, was told of the Omaha club's action. "I am not an active candidate for the nomination for President," he said.

U. S. TO DISCUSS DRY LAW PROBLEMS WITH CANADA

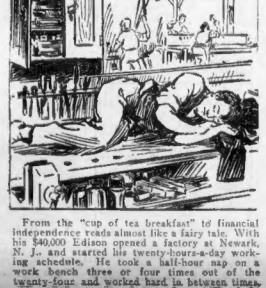
Washington, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—A three-day conference between the Royal Customs Commission of Canada and representatives of the State and Justice Departments, prohibition, coast guard and customs services will begin here Monday to discuss problems of law enforcement, especially in relation to prohibition, on the international boundary. A rearrangement of customs stations and ports of entry will be an important phase of the meeting.

THE LIFE OF THOMAS A. EDISON

(Authorized by Mr. Edison)

Text by Arthur J. Palmer
Drawings by Frank Kuchenmeister

Marshall Lefferts gave Edison his check for $40,000 and sent an assistant to the bank with him for identification purposes. The teller, being a practical joker, gave Edison the entire amount in small bills. The young inventor laboriously stuffed them into every pocket, then sat up all night to guard his new fortune.



From the "cup of tea breakfast" to financial independence reads almost like a fairy tale. With his $40,000 Edison opened a factory at Newark, N. J., and started his twenty-hours-a-day working schedule. He took a half-hour nap on a work bench three or four times out of the twenty-four and worked hard in between times.

Edison's greatest telegraphic achievement was the quadruplex, which permits two messages to go each way over a single wire at the same time. Edison sold out his "quad" interests to Jay Gould in the basement of Gould's Fifth avenue home. To avoid spying competitors Edison entered by the servants' entrance.

Edison turned his talents from the telegraph to messenger call boxes, then to the electric pen, then to the typewriter. He helped to make the latter commercially practical, following the mechanism evolving the principles of Carlos Glidden and Christopher L. Sholes. An early model of a typewriter appears above. (Continued Monday.)

Rattling the Skeleton

Joe Allen, the exceedingly comic policeman in "The Baby Cyclone" at the Hollis, is a native of East Boston and a brother of the late James Marlowe. Their family name is McGuirk, but when going on the stage they both chose different noms de theatre.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Fie, Fie, Mr. Raymond!

This new data on movie costs is freely furnished by Charlie Raymond, statistician extraordinary of Loew's State. For the cabaret scene in the new film, "Adam and Evil," Charles claims the actors wore out 200 pairs of dancing shoes in an eight-hour day.

DOWNTOWN DRAMA MARKS TIME -:- SEASON RESUMES WITH A RUSH ON LABOR DAY

JUST PLAIN FOLKS, unconscious and unashamed of their surroundings—especially unconscious—are Lew Cody and Gwen Lee in this heart-rendering cabaret scene from "Adam and Evil," the new film frolic at the State.

A FINE DRESSING DOWN is accorded Tom Mix by Natalie Joyce, the lady who appears here in such excellent fighting form, in "The Circus Ace." For the outcome, watch the screens carefully at the Modern and Beacon.

OFF FOR A REST under arrest is Louis Simon in "Bye, Bye, Bonnie," at the Wilbur. Charles Henderson is leading him away to "Welfare Island" where the rest cure will be beneficently administered.

FAIR EXCHANGE! Jack Mulhall and Dorothy MacKaill pass the time of day so genially in "Smile, Brother, Smile," the new film at the Olympia starting tomorrow.

FIRST IN ANY ENGAGEMENT, Theodore Von Eltz upholds the honor of the Marines in this engagement with Jeanne Morgan during the action of "The Great Mail Robbery" at the Scollay Square.

DRAMA FROM NEWSPAPER ARTICLE

Philip Dunning, who wrote the original script of "Broadway", to be seen at the Plymouth commencing Monday afternoon, Sept. 5th, came upon a series of articles in the New York Herald-Tribune last spring which changed the complexion of his play. The play centered, as it does now, upon the love of the "hooter," Roxy Lane, for "Billie" Moore, a cabaret dancer. The more sinister thread in the play, the deadly war between the riv... gangsters, found its origin in the series of three articles called "The Night Clubs and Crime." Dunning's eye was caught by the following paragraphs in the first article:

Philip Dunning

"The underworld has laid its hands on the night life of New York. Night Clubs, gaudy palaces of jazz or quiet retreats, where soft lights counterfeit an air of respectability are, some of them, directed or operated by men who not long since fretted behind prison walls for offenses as vicious as the taking of human life.

"He who comes pleasure bent, enters through these portals into companionship no less desperate than that of the waterfront dives of another day."

Annual "Carnival Week" to Be Held at Revere

Beginning Labor Day, Revere Beach will usher in its annual carnival. This festival, free to all, will be held from September 5 to 11, inclusive, and the program for this year will be of such scope and variety that the event will surpass all similar functions of previous years.

"Carnival Week" is sponsored by the amusement division of the Revere Chamber of Commerce. There will be a long succession of events for each day of the week. The beach will be decorated with flags.

FILM EXTRAS ARE GOOD DANCERS

There are literally thousands of good dancers in Hollywood, Culver City and Los Angeles, where the majority of the world's motion pictures are made.

These couples became experts through their work in pictures. Many of them have never played a role in the pictures, but, for years, have done atmospheric work as dancers in lavish ballroom, cafe and cabaret settings.

It is estimated by Robert H. Leonard, director of "Adam and Evil," a feature comedy coming to the State Monday, that there are fully five thousand young men and women working as "extras" in pictures that could qualify as expert dancing couples for the vaudeville stage.

"Most of these," says Leonard, "have been in picture work from one to half a dozen years. Frequently they dance from one to two weeks in a single dance sequence."

Leonard has incorporated in "Adam and Evil" one of the most lavish dance sequences of the ultra-modern variety, ever seen in motion pictures.

Claims War Films Compel Exactness in Detail

The late world war furnished plenty of material for motion picture stories, but at the same time it has brought about an exactness in pictures heretofore unknown, according to Emory Johnson, who directed "The Lone Eagle," which comes to the New Boston tomorrow.

"In making a war picture such as 'The Lone Eagle,' explained Johnson, "every detail must be perfect. In the United States alone there are close to three million potential movie patrons who saw service in France during the war. When we depict a street scene in a French village, for instance, if there is one little thing out of place, these men who have an indelible memory of France stamped in their minds, are bound to notice it. Add to this the millions of people in Europe who will see the picture and you have an idea what a slipshod production would mean to the producer."

La Belle Babette

GERTRUDE LANG sings, smiles, pouts and wrens during the musical ways of "Half A Widow," war opera, at the Shubert.

JIMMY PLAYS 'HIMSELF'

Jimmy Fallon, who plays the part of Jimmy, the enthusiastic admirer and self-appointed assistant to Smith in "Secret Service Smith," now playing at the Plymouth, started his stage career twelve years ago with Fay Baintor in "Under Two Flags." He hails from Fort Dodge, Iowa, and has played in stock companies from coast to coast.

Jimmy Fallon

The strangest role he ever undertook was one given him at a moment's notice. It was the ingenue's role in "The Bachelor's Baby," and he did the girl's part so efficiently that it took three week's hard fighting to live it down.

He played an important part in "Welcome Stranger" in Chicago and was connected with the Sherman Players in Cedar Rapids. Last year he played Boston in Vaudeville with a sketch called "Just a Boy Scout." The part of Jimmy, an hero-worshipper is a part he has played off the stage also. He was manager for such famous baseball players as Faber and Ty Cobb.

FILM FARE FOR NEW WEEK

METROPOLITAN—(Starting today) Thomas Meighan in "We're All Gamblers," (first run), adapted from Sidney Howard's play, "Lucky Sam McCarver." "ONE OF THE FINEST"

JOSEPH ALLEN as the Evening American cartoonist, John Maguire, sees him in his role of gruff Gotham policeman in George Cohan's comedy of domestic strife, "The Baby Cyclone," at the Hollis.

"WE'RE ALL GAMBLERS"

IT'S A SAFE BET that the perennial film hero, Tommy Meighan, will not lose if he chooses Marietta Millner in "We're All Gamblers," the new screen drama starting today at the Metropolitan.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Los Sambers, Spanish team of outdoor gymnasts, are the main attraction at Norumbega Park for the new week. In addition, there are various midway amusements, and a bill of pictures and vaudeville in the open air theatre.

Film Futures

SEPTEMBER 3—
Clara Bow in "Hula" at the Metropolitan.

SEPTEMBER 4—
Douglas McLean in "Soft Cushions" at the New Boston.
"Beau Geste" at the Washton Street Olympia.

SEPTEMBER 5—
"The Big Parade" at Loew's State.

SEPTEMBER 10—
Bebe Daniels in "Swim, Girl, Swim," with Gertrude Ederle.

Not Quite a Yogi

KATHERINE MOORE plays the "Little Freak" in "Secret Service Smith," drama of mystery and mysticism at the Plymouth.

ST. JAMES TO RE-OPEN

The Keith-Albee stock company at the St. James will open on Labor Day with a comedy, "Loose Ankles," to start off the season.

Ruth King, who is well known to film fans, is the new leading lady. Mary Hill, who has a wide experience in character work, is the new character woman, while Flora Maude Gode is the new ingenue. She is called "The Ina Claire of Stock."

Ruth King

In addition to those new faces there will be the old favorites, Frank Charlton, character man; Edith Speare, second leading lady; John Winthrop, second character man; and Charles L. Schofield, whose comedy convulsed Boston audiences last season, are again with the St. James players. Schofield will also be the stage director.

Harold Hevia, who managed the theatre last season, has been retained.

NEW PARK THEATRE

The New Park Theatre, beginning today will offer a new policy to the motion picture fans of Boston when the Washington street theatre will establish a continuous show policy. A three-hour bill will be given, including two feature photoplays, a comedy and a newsreel. The theatre has been entirely redecorated and renovated throughout, and has been equipped with a Wurlitzer Hope Jones organ.

Looking Ahead

SEPTEMBER 5th—
"Broadway" at the Plymouth.
George M. Cohan's "The Merry Malones" at the Colonial.
"My Golden Girl" at the Shubert.
Eddie Dowling in "Honeymoon Lane" at the Tremont

SEPTEMBER 12th—
"The Barker" at the Hollis.
"Bonita," a musical play based on Augustus Thomas' "Arizona" at the Majestic.

GOTHAM HIT ON SCREEN 'AT MET'

A work of one of America's foremost playwrights will reach the Metropolitan today when Thomas Meighan's new picture, "We're All Gamblers," is shown.

It is based on Sidney Howard's New York stage success, "Lucky Sam McCarver," according to an announcement by Lucien Hubbard, featured producer who supervised the production.

Howard came into national prominence when his sensational play, "They Knew What They Wanted," as produced by the Theatre Guild in New York, was designated the 1923 Pulitzer Prize Play. This season he duplicated his previous successes with "Ned McCobb's Daughter."

"Lucky Sam McCarver," the first of Howard's plays to reach the screen, tells a romance of a rugged, lower-class New Yorker and an aristocratic society leader and their effort to find happiness by merging their widely diverse backgrounds. Thomas Meighan plays the role created in the stage play by John Cromwell, and Marietta Millner fills the part played by Clara Eames.

Hope Loring, noted scenarist, made the adaptation, writing her screen play from Howard's drama. James Cruze, of "The Covered Wagon" and "Old Ironsides" fame, directed.

New Film Characterizes Night Club Hostess

The night club hostess, mysterious and interesting as the character is, has rarely been depicted on stage or screen, but Irene Rich now portrays one of that gracious company in "Dearie," the Warner Brothers production which starts today at the Modern and Beacon.

"Dearie" presents a glittering panorama of Broadway playhouses, night clubs, mansions and tenements.

Miss Rich's role is that of a mother who, having lost her fortune, takes up singing to keep her son in college. She sings the old favorite, "Dearie," winning the name for herself. The fact that she never let her son know that she is the cabaret singer of whom he hears so much, causes complications which sweep the story on and up to a climax.

WHITMORE IN NEW COHAN MUSICAL

Dorothy Whitmore, whom George M. Cohan has engaged for an important role in his newest music play, "The Merry Malones," opening at the Colonial on Labor Day night, is one of the very few prima donna ingenues in the profession. Miss Whitmore, it will be recalled, appeared in Mr. Cohan's production of "The O'Brien Girl," playing opposite Virginia O'Brien, who played the lead. Later Miss Whitmore played Frizzi, one of the sisters in "Blossom Time" and the prima donna in Albert De Courville's New York production of "Merry World." Perhaps Miss Whitmore's greatest success was in the leading comedy role of Harry Fraser's Chicago production of "No, No, Nanette," which remained in the "windy city" for over a year before New York saw it. She also appeared in Frazee's presentation of "Yes, Yes, Yvette," playing the prima donna ingenue role opposite Bernard Granville.

Dorothy Whitmore

Dorothy Whitmore, although born in Leadville, Colorado, spent all of her early girlhood in Southern California.

Jack Mulhall Is a Regular Business Man at Last

Jack Mulhall started out in life with the intention of becoming a business man, but became an actor instead.

His re-enters the marts of trade for the first time in his role of a traveling salesman in "Smile, Brother, Smile" at the Washington Street Olympia next week.

Jack had originally no thought of going on the stage or in pictures. He went to New York city to attend college with every intention of engaging in some business upon graduation. In that city, however, the stage attracted him, and he played leads in Broadway productions for several seasons before turning his attention to the movies.

GETTING THE LINE

ALL READY FOR MONDAY with their week's wash are Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "The Callahans and the Murphys," the new film comedy heading the list of attractions at Loew's Orpheum.

For Final Reduction
Here is one high-powered "wise crack" in "Half A Widow" at the Shubert. Two doughboys in a trench. Shouts one, "I'll sell my life dearly!" The other, quondam suit and cloak man, sharply observes, "Never mind the price, hurry up and make the sale."

STAGE AND SCREEN

Square Shooter Speaks
Because of the dangerous stunts required of Tom Mix in "The Circus Ace" at the Modern and Beacon, it was suggested he use a double. "Never!" quoth he. "When I can't do my own stuff, I'll stow the hat and retire." Spoken like a real man, Tom!

DRESSLER IN RETURN TO SCREEN

The woman who helped to open the gates of screen fame to Charlie Chaplin, and who, during the war, forsook her stage career to sell millions of Liberty bonds for the government, is back on the screen—after eight years.

She is Marie Dressler, in whose "Tillie's Punctured Romance," eight years ago, Chaplin was given his first "screen credit." She returns to the silver sheet as the redoubtable Mrs. Callahan in the hilarious filmization of Kathleen Norris' "The Callahans and the Murphys," coming Monday to the Orpheum.

Miss Dressler, one of the world's most famous musical comedy stars, forsook the stage once—years ago—to make "Tillie's Punctured Romance," based partly on her musical comedy hit, "Tillie's Nightmare." Chaplin was a member of the cast, up to that time known in two reel comedies as "Looney." From this picture the world learned that the name of the strange comedian was Charles Spencer Chaplin.

CHARMING AND TALENTED

GENEVIEVE TOBIN plays quaintly the leading lady role in "Murray Hill," Leslie Howard's comedy at the Copley.

BARBARA KENT, pert and pretty, is an aviator's fiancee in "The Lone Eagle," new war film at the Boston starting tomorrow.

BETTY DELMONTE re-appears today at the opening of Waldron's Casino today in Jimmie Cooper's "Black and White."

Screen Star Now Sings in New Shubert Operetta

The stage, both dramatic and lyric, has contributed several of its brightest members to the screen. Grand opera gave Geraldine Farrar to it, but it remains for Hope Hampton to reverse this and step from the screen to the stage. Mary Pickford did this also when she went from the studio to a Belasco company for a short time but Miss Hampton makes a wider leap—from the movies to operetta—and there is the liveliest interest in her forthcoming appearance.

Hope Hampton

at the Shubert, in "My Golden Girl." Miss Hampton declares that no matter how great her success may be in this new field of artistry she will never leave the silent drama. Two of her finest screen productions will be released before the short Boston engagement is ended.

VAUDEVILLE CHANGES

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—The Ferry Mansfield dance unit, "Color and Rhythm," with company of ten; Glen Dale, tenor, with Robert Farley at the piano; Ward and Raymond, "Mirthologists"; Holland and O'Den in a comedy skit; Garden and Shaw, comedians and dancers; Peavy and Perdue, exhibition strong men, and others. The photoplay is "The Callahans and the Murphys."

B. F. KEITH'S—Odette Myrtil, French violinista and chanteuse, assisted by Mitzi Kish and Jules Waldeck; Big Brother, Bob Emory, and his "Twelve Joy Spreaders"; "Piano," called "The World's Greatest Marksman"; Herbert Faye and company of four in the skit "Laughology"; Joe Keno and Rosie Green in an "Hilarious Hodge Podge"; Marie and Ann Clark in "The Immigrant"; Burns and Foran, two dancing boys, and others.

• • •

OLYMPIA—Morton Jewell and company in a variety act; Peny, Reed and Gold in a comedy skit, set to music; Gaffney and Walton in chatter and songs; Bailey and Phil, two colored folk, in "Nonsense"; Jack Turiels and Miriam Clark, slack wire artists, and others.

• • •

NEW BOSTON—The Columbia Revue, with a company of 13 singers, dancers and comedians; "Picture," accordionist; "The Parole Prince," a musical comedy travesty on "Hamlet"; Nola and Winifred St. Claire in a comedy skit, and others.

• • •

SCOLLAY—The Sunshine Boys in a "Triple Alliance" of song; May and Kilduff in "Village Gossip"; Arthur Petley and company in "Comedy and Cleverness"; Layman and McGinty in "Pipe Dreams"; Austin Goetz and Fay Duffy in "The Romantic Age," and others.

NEW THEATRE IN REVERE

The new Revere Theatre, built at great cost and said to be one of the handsomest houses of its kind in the East, will give its first performances on Monday evening.

It will be devoted to the showing of the best grade motion pictures and high class musical features.

A large Wurlitzer organ has been installed. Louis Weir, talented and well known movie organist, has been engaged to preside at the console. Besides interpreting the feature photoplay, Mr. Weir will give a recital at each performance. This will be a feature of the show.

In connection with the opening, the film star, Patsy Ruth Miller, sends this telegram from Universal City, California: "Hearty congratulations on the opening of the Revere Theatre, an event that has created much interest on the West Coast. I am delighted that my new picture, 'Painting the Town,' was selected for the opening, and trust that the people of Revere will get as much enjoyment out of seeing it as I did in making it."

VARIETY AND PICTURES

WALDRON'S CASINO—(Burlesque). Jimmie Cooper and his "Big Black and White Revue." Also pictures and vaudeville.

BOWDOIN SQUARE—John Gilbert and Ernest Torrence in "Twelve Miles Out" Lew Cody in "On Za Boulevard"; Ben Turpin in "A Hollywood Hero": and a bill of vaudeville.

GAYETY—(Burlesque). Jean Bedini's "Cock-A-Doodle-Doo" revue, with the producer in the leading role. A large company assists.

HOWARD—(Burlesque). The "Hollywood Scandals" revue with Buddie Harrison. Also pictures and vaudeville.

Eliminate Staff Writers Under New Film Policy

Introducing a new policy into motion picture production, "The Great Mail Robbery," which starts tomorrow at the Scollay, is one of the first films produced at F. B. O. under the system of producing only screen versions of original stories and eliminating all staff writers.

Peter Milne, who has written numerous original stories and adaptations, many others for the screen, is the author of "The Great Mail Robbery," which deals with the adventures of the United States in guarding the mails.

WORLD FLIERS SOAR OUT OVER ATLANTIC BOUND FOR ENGLAND

HOP OFF ON FIRST LEG OF TOUR

miles an hour, while visibility was excellent.

The record of 28 days, 14 hours and 30 minutes for globe-girdling which Brock and Schlee hope to break was set last year by Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells, who used ships and trains as well as airplanes.

The first leg of the round-the-world flight, from here to Croydon, is 2,350 miles. The Pride of Detroit has already negotiated easily an average speed of 100 miles an hour, a hop from Curtiss Field New York, to Old Orchard Me, and that yesterday of about 1,000 miles to Harbor Grace.

Brock, after looking the plane over carefully here, said it was in perfect shape for the transatlantic jump. About 150 gallons of gasoline were added to the residue in the tanks here.

The plane rose gracefully and circled around the flying field once before heading straight out to sea. There was not a cloud in the sky.

Automobiles lined the sides of the field. As the plane took to the air cheers went up from hundreds of spectators, in which Sir John F. Bennett, Colonial secretary, joined. Sir John had welcomed the fliers on their arrival and was on hand early in the morning to bid them farewell.

The fliers had slept well for seven hours and were in excellent condition. They ate a hearty breakfast of bacon and eggs. They wasted no time but drove in an automobile to the field, tuned up their plane, remarked that they were too busy to talk, waved a goodby and were off for England.

World Fliers' Plane Similar to Lindy's

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The honor of Edward F. Schlee, Detroit oil man, and William Brock, pilot, in their Wright-motored Stinson-Detroiter plane in which they hope to better the world's record for circling the globe, represents the culmination of plans laid more than a year ago.

Once we agreed to make the trip last June," Schlee said, "we agreed to buy a ship." Their choice was virtually the same as that of Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd, the Wright motor in a monoplane of conventional design.

Next the route was laid over 22,000 miles of land and water which the aviators hope to span in approximately 240 flying hours. The entire course is covered by agents for the Wayco Oil Company of which Schlee is president, and there will be no lack of proper fuel and mechanical service even though the installation of a new whirlwind motor should be needed at Tokio.

Schlee and Brock had provided for their take-off with an especially constructed runway, built by the Newfoundland government at Harbor Grace.

In general designs the Schlee-Brock plane, the Pride of Detroit, is like Lindbergh's transatlantic craft. It is painted a bright yellow, has a wing-spread of 46 feet and is seven feet wide. The pilot's cockpit is glass enclosed, affording clear forward vision, and large cushion seats are comfortably lodged between the gas tanks. The plane empty weighs about 1,900 pounds, and its heaviest load will be 400 gallons of gasoline on the long hops, or 3,000 pounds in all.

The instrument board is similar to that on the dash of other transatlantic planes, every device for safe flying having been installed for a forced landing on the water. The aviators carry life-preservers and a pneumatic raft, an emergency radio sending set, which can be operated under water using an ite aerial, is also part of the equipment.

Besides a supply of sandwiches the men carry army rations for five days, a vacuum can of coffee and water bottles.

Brock ridiculed the idea that the long hours and hasty meals for the next two weeks might wear them down. To assure one of them some sleep while the other is piloting, the two men rigged up a bunk by laying a single thickness of felt across a great square gasoline tank in the fuselage.

CO-ORDINATION OF AIRPORTS PLANNED

Co-ordination of activities of the Boston Airport with those of flying fields in operation or in process of development in other sections of New England will be one of the chief objects of study on the part of an all-New England aviation conference at the Hotel Statler on 8 September 30.

The conference, sponsored by the New England Council, will be attended by manufacturers, airport engineers, executives of air transport organizations, chambers of commerce and civic bodies, bankers and merchants.

Dudley Harmon.

"The main purposes of the aviation conference will be to stimulate New England's activities in relation to aviation," said Dudley Harmon, executive vice president of the New England Council.

"Specifically, it will attempt to find answers to the following questions:

"How can New England cities best provide themselves with airports?

"How can New England industry increase its share in manufacturing articles for aviation purposes?

"How can New England manufacturers, bankers and merchants make effective use of air transportation of passengers, mail and packages?

PREPARING DETAILS.

"Committees already actively engaged in aviation development are preparing details of the program. Under the subject of manufacturing it is planned to have brought out at the conference the things that the aviation industry now uses and what it will require in the future; what the New England manufacturers are now supplying to the industry and what they can, with present facilities, supply in addition.

"Under airport development will come discussions as to the status of airports; whether they should be municipal or commercial; their physical requirments, such as size, accessibility, character of land and environments; their financing and earnings, the need for legislation to facilitate the establishment of New England airports, and the commercial development of adjacent land.

THOSE AT WORK.

"The manufacturing section of the program is being arranged by John D. Haughey, president of the Air Service of New England, Inc., and F. W. McLanahan, Lawrence manufacturer.

"Those arranging the program of airport development include Carl W. Kenlston of Concord, N. H., Raymond Baldwin of the Boston Airport Corporation, W. D. Thompson, Jr., of the Concord, N. H., Airport Corporation, Phillips Payton of the Portland Airport Corporation, and W. H. Beardsley of the Springfield, Vt., Chamber of Commerce.

"The committee on the uses of aviation comprises Sumner Sewall of the Colonial Air Transport, Inc., W. J. Backes of the Boston and Maine railroad, Bernard Weisman of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Mason Beach of the Boston Airport Corporation."

Wood and Schiller in Secret Get-Away

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Phil Wood, Detroit merchant, and Pilot Duke Schiller made a secret getaway at 7 a. m. today for Selfridge, Mich., on their way to Windsor, Ont., where they plan to take off as soon as weather permits for Windsor, Ont.

The two pilots, who made a start yesterday, only to be forced back by bad weather, determined on the secret attempt when they were informed that Edward F. Schlee and William Brock had hopped off in their monoplane Pride of Detroit from Harbor Grace, N. F., for Croydon, Eng.

MONUMENT TO LOST FLIERS PROPOSED

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—A lasting memorial to the missing Dole fliers, a monument just outside the Golden Gate entrance to San Francisco Bay, the spot over which the three planes moved out into the Pacific, is proposed by the San Francisco Examiner editorially.

"We owe these ten heroes this tribute," the Examiner says. "They flew for America, not only for the prize. This country's supremacy may yet depend upon the completed mystery of the 2,400-mile sky trail to our territory in midpacific. When that mystery is perfected the lessons learned in the Dole flight will lie at the basis of the achievement. Let us hope until hope must be abandoned. And then let us act to memorialize, in lasting beauty, this Dommie party of the air."

The Dommer party which attempted to cross the plains in the early days, all died by cold, starvation or at the hands of Indians before reaching California.

A movement to hold a memorial at sea on Sept. 16 for the seven fliers missing in connection with the Dole air race has met with unanimous approval.

Civic officials responded readily to the memorial suggestion and heads of the Matson Navig.tion Company offered the services of the Malolo.

The Navy's search along the ocean lane to Honolulu was still in progress today.

Admiral Richard H. Jackson, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, flattered aboard his flagship, the dreadnaught California, in San Francisco harbor, that the sea quest would be abandoned only with the abandonment of all hope of finding the aviators.

Rumors of Wrecked Plane Encourage Hawaiian Seekers

Honolulu, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Captain Paul Schulter, navigator of the monoplane Aloha, second prize winner in the Dole flight, was aboard the liner Kenmore bound for San Francisco today, richer by $1,000, when Pilot Martin Jensen's backers gave him. Jensen also has a check for more money to be derived from sale of Jensen's syndicated newspaper articles telling the story of the flight.

Reports today from Maui indicated that searchers in the search for the missing Dole fliers in the Nahiku Hills, whence have come rumors of a wrecked airplane has been seen. It was estimated that searchers had covered one-tenth of the densely wooded country and planned to abandon the hunt if nothing was found before nightfall tonight.

Naval officials at Pearl Harbor announced that the Omaha and six destroyers will arrive Monday to refuel and take on provisions. They probably will depart Tuesday. Two destroyers will leave Monday for the mainland. Both groups will search the drift waters—the area wherein the plane would drift from the great circle course, as far as longitude 135. From there they will set their courses for San Francisco. These operations will terminate the navy's search, except for the continued efforts by navy boats in Hawaiian waters, under the direction of the commandant of the fourteenth naval district.

Jensen, Pacific Flier, Plans to Hop Across U. S. and Back

Honolulu, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Martin Jensen, whose plane "Aloha" finished second in the Dole flight from Oakland, plans two cross-country flights with the backing of the Ryan Airplane Corporation of San Diego, Cal.

Jensen plans to start about September 10 on a non-stop flight from San Diego to New York in a plane carrying himself, his wife and 400 pounds of deadweight to demonstrate the practicability of carrying heavy loads. He also plans to participate in the national air derby from New York to Spokane.

Los Angeles-Tokio Flight Called Off

Los Angeles, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—The Times says Ed Grauman, Hollywood theatre man, has agreed to withdraw his $30,000 prize offer for a Los Angeles to Tokio flight at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce.

TIED TO WHEEL, SAVES HIS CHIP

Portland, Me., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Captain Harry Green, youngest skipper of the Portland fishing fleet, lashed himself to the wheel while his crew clung to the rigging throughout Wednesday night when the vessel was caught on Brown's bank in the great storm. He brought his craft safely home today, but she was minus all her sails, most of her supply of gasoline, her compass and log, and her foreboom was shattered.

The schooner Aberrance, also caught in the storm, arrived here today. She escaped serious damage.

FRIENDS OF ALL VARIETIES TO GET $50,000 AT GRAVE

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—"Happy friends," "esteemed friends," "congenial friends" and other kinds of friends described and named in the will of William P. Harrman, grocer, are to receive a total of $50,000 at his grave next December 25, his will stipulates.

'TEA PARTY TO SALADA 'KING'

They're planning another Boston tea party. Instead of being a protest against any stamp tax like that which startled the world back in Uncle Sam's Indian days, this party will be in honor of P. C. Larkin, called the "Tea King" of America, and the opening of the new Salada Tea building in the Park square section, said to be the world's largest building devoted to the merchandising of tea.

Mr. Larkin is Canadian High Commissioner at the Court of St. James. He is founder and builder of America's largest tea business, and is still the Salada company's president, sole owner and directing genius. Less than 40 years ago he was traveling for a wholesale grocer in Montreal.

HUGE BUSINESS GROWTH.

He gave to America the idea of packing and selling tea in individual metal foil packages.

At the present time the Salada Company, it is said, sells more tea every two hours than was sold the first year that Mr. Larkin was in business for himself. In the past seven years the business has doubled. Last year 50,000,000 metal foil packages of Salada tea went home in the market baskets of America.

The new Salada Building in Boston is a 10-story structure, the central portion of which rises two stories above the flanking wings, thus making a wide expanse of roof available for a roof garden adjacent to the employes' restaurant and clubrooms that occupy the two top floors. One of Mr. Larkin's basic policies is that this and other Salada tea buildings shall provide interesting and beautiful surroundings for his executives and employes.

MANY RARE TREASURES.

Every part of the new building is open to the public at all times during business hours. Visitors coming in at the main entrance step into a marble foyer which houses a rare collection of Oriental treasures, tapestries and ceramics, carved furniture, ivory and jade, great figures of Buddha and mandarins of bronze. All of these treasures have been collected by Mr. Larkin.

In another section there are great storerooms filled with tier and tier of tea containers with crystal plate glass fronts, and in others thousands and thousands of Salada Tea packages. Workrooms, storerooms and shipping rooms are spotless. In fact, every process of distributing Salada Tea from the shipping containers to America's home tea cups is shown to the visitor.

England consumes ten times as much tea as the United States, but she must look to Boston for the finest tea building in the world.

START SEARCH FOR REDFERN

river valley, somewhere in the vicinity or southward of Macapa.

His scheduled route and time called for his arrival over the South American continent last night. While ships in tropical waters have been requested to keep a look-out for the aviator, only once since he hopped off has a report of sighting him been heard. That came in a message picked up by the Financial Journal's 40-meter wireless station at St. Petersburg, Fla., from Station C—AQP at Nassau, which said a steamer arrived there at 11:40 Thursday night and reported sighting the airplane approximately 200 miles east of the British Bahamas. The message failed to say what time the plane was observed.

Paul Varner, general flight committee chairman here, expressed the opinion that Redfern had been flying high over the route and probably would not have been heard had he passed over any of the islands or steamers in his path.

No Redfern Flare Seen at Macapa as Promised

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Peru and Pernambuco at eight o'clock this morning said those cities were without news of Redfern.

Before leaving, Redfern said he would try for Pernambuco, if he found his gasoline supply diminished greatly at Macapa, on the north mouth of the Amazon River. He was to have dropped a flare there to designate which city he would try for, but no report of a flare has been received.

Muddy Field Halts Hop of Old Glory Until Monday

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—With raindrops dripping from its golden wings, Hearst's monoplane Old Glory huddled at the runway top today above a sodden field that aviators said would prevent the hoped-for 8½ non-stop flight to Rome until Monday, at least.

Experience has shown that it takes a full 48 hours for this field to dry out after a drenching, and this afternoon the rain was still falling into an inch of water that covered the mud of the grassless runway.

World Fliers Face Storms Over Ireland

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Weather conditions for the flight of the transatlantic plane Pride of Detroit over Ireland appeared unfavorable in the Galway district this afternoon, but better in the south.

The Free State Army local commander at Galway reported sunshine and fairly good visibility, but added that a windstorm was blowing and that indications pointed to a stormy night with high winds. The harbor master at Galway also anticipated a rough night.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE TO BE GUEST OF LEGION

Paris, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The American Legion will have President Doumergue as its dinner guest on Sept. 16. The President took the place of Adjuant James F. Barton and Bowman Elder of the Legion committee he would be glad not only to accept the dinner invitation but desired to attend the opening day's session of the Legion convention.

Mr. Barton, Mr. Elder and other Legion officials today placed a wreath of live flowers on the tomb of the Unknown Poilu. The wreath, a combination of roses and chrisanthemums will be kept fresh throughout the Legion's stay in Paris.

MYSTERY BOY RESTORES $800 STOLEN FROM SHOP

Lawrence, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—There must be a Santa Claus. Wolfe Albert, a grocery man here, is willing to prove it. Last Wednesday $800 was stolen from the cash register of his store without a single clue as to where it had gone.

Yesterday while Albert was still brooding over the loss, a boy walked into the establishment, placed the $800 in his hand and lost himself before Albert had recovered from his amazement.

myself and I suppose I must lie in it."

He also told of having $17 when he left his office and more than $8 of this was spent on car fare.

The letter closes with the warning that it would be of no use for either the parents or Miss Halperin to look for him.

GIRL TOLD OF LETTER.

The latter was almost in a state of collapse as a result of her search among the hospitals for her fiance. She started this search after appealing to the Boston police. She was still continuing her search Friday when she received word that a letter from the missing man had been received at the Levin home.

At the Mitchell and Clark chiropody parlors on Tremont street, where Dr. Levin was employed, they were at a loss to explain his sudden disappearance.

His letter gave no intimation as to what he intended to do after leaving the hotel in New York. From the tone of the letter, his father and brother are confident he intends to start life anew, either in New York or some other city.

BLONDE JUNO OF FILMS IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Mary Mayo, blonde Juno of the films, whose husband, Dr. Woodward Mayo, brought suit for divorce in 1924, with a complaint which charged Lew Cody with too much friendship with his wife, has been given her freedom. A supplemental cross-complaint was entered by Mrs. Mayo Thursday based on alleged cruelties. It went to trial uncontested by her husband.

This Boy Didn't Have to Ask Dad; Judge Smiles; Files Case

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.)—Irving Yankelowitz, fourteen, appeared in court to explain that his father was ill and could not answer a summons for disobeying a traffic signal.

"You seem to be a pretty smart youngster," said Magistrate McKinery. "What would you do if you were a lawyer representing your father?"

"I'd plead guilty; I know him," said the boy.

"You win. Case is filed," smiled the judge.

8 TEAMS SEEDED IN DOUBLES

Davis Cup Matches Postponed From Today to Be Played Monday

Rain forced the Longwood Cricket Club tennis committee to postpone the Japan and France Davis Cup matches scheduled for this afternoon until Monday.

By STED CHANDLER

Eight teams, four American and four foreign, have been seeded in the national doubles championships which start on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, Monday morning.

The two leading combinations, Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, the All-England champions, and Henry Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, the French champions, are at opposite ends of the draw, but luck was such that the paths of these two crack teams will not be easy to the finals.

Except for the fact that the second quarter of the second half appears rather tight, especially in regard to its quota of Texans, the numbers fell unusually well, and the various seeded teams and sectional champions are scattered nicely throughout the list.

32 TEAMS TO COMPETE.

Thirty-two teams in all will compete, of which 12 hold some sort of title. These combinations are the pick of both sides of the ocean and, with the draw in their favor, some of the best tennis of the year is expected throughout the coming week. The seeded teams are:

AMERICAN.

1. W. T. Tilden 3d and F. T. Hunter.
2. R. Norris Williams 3d and W. J. Johnston.
3. L. R. Williams and T. Hansbury.
4. George Doeg and George Lott.

FOREIGN.

1. Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon.
2. Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra.
3. Jean Washer and F. W. Shields
4. Ngyuli and Yasuto Tobi.

The titles held by the various teams include the following: Tilden and Hunter, All-England; Frank and Butler, Intermountain; G. J. Shield and Ryall, Pacific Northwest; Van Ryn and Appel, Middle States; Tubbel and Coggeshall, Missouri Valley; Captain Anderson and Commander Gill, U. S. Navy Leach Cup; Watters and Granger, Southern; Davies and Stratford, Pacific Coast; Pope and Mikl, Japanese; Newed and Shay, Northwest; White and Thalhimer, Southwest; Dornkaeft and Craig, New England, and Cochet and Brugnon, French.

DOUBLE-HEADER MONDAY.

Monday's program at Longwood will be somewhat of a doubleheader, weather permitting, with the postponed Interzone Davis Cup matches slated for today, being held in the afternoon, along with some of the national doubles matches.

Borotra will meet Ohta and Cochet will play Harada, the first match starting at 1:45. The Japanese have agreed to the substitution of Borotra for Lacoste, although the change is against the Davis Cup ruling.

SUNDAY DOUBLES DRAW.

William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter vs. R. Pierce and L. Baltin.

Alvin Briggs and G. H. Perkins vs. Aydelotte and Richardson.

M. L. Johnson and John R. Peano vs. N. W. Niles and C. D. Washburn.

G. F. Gardiner and Henry Guild vs. Jean Washer and H. Shields.

Lucius E. Williams and T. Hennessy vs. G. J. Shields and A. C. Ryall.

John Van Ryn and Kenneth Appel vs. Rivers Barrett and H. J. Wiener.

Donald Strachan and Howard Orser vs. Arnold Jones and W. M. Jones.

G. B. Abbott and Walter Weld vs. Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra.

R. Norris Williams 2nd and William L. Johnston vs. J. Hubbard and H. Cornwall.

Captain W. S. Anderson and Commander C. C. Gill vs. J. Watts and C. E. Granger.

Alonzo Ogden and Ornaston Holman vs. Wimer Allison and John Barr.

J. Ard and J. Stratford vs. Texis Tobe and Ryall Mikl.

George Lott and John Doeg vs. W. B. Newell and H. Shay.

W. M. Hyde and A. Wilder vs. Lewis White and Louis Thalheimer.

Berkeley Bell and James Quick vs. W. B. Wood and G. Devens.

William Dornkaeft and Norval Craig vs. Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon.

CRACK ATHLETES IN 10 MILE LAWRENCE RUN

Lawrence, Aug. 27.—Sunday's 10-mile road race, under auspices of the John W. Meehan A. C., has attracted 250 entries. A majority of those entered are local boys, but between 40 and 50 are coming from other cities and towns. Last April the local Knights of Columbus staged a highly successful race, but the number of entries for the affair on Sunday has exceeded that by far.

The race will start from Haverhill street, opposite the Lawrence Common, and will finish at Juniper Park in Methuen.

DAVID LEAHY WINNER OF TRAPSHOOTING TOURNEY

Vandalia, O., Aug. 27 (I.N.S.).—David Leahy of New York city won the consolation handicap of the Grand American Handicap at the American Trapshooting Association's meet here yesterday, breaking 98 out of 100 targets. Louis H. Robbins, Vincinnes, Ind., and J. D. Van Cise, Youngstown, O., tied for second with 98 each, and were to shoot off for the title.

THE WORLD'S MOST UNUSUAL MEDLEY RACE

KIDS CAN RIDE ANYTHING AND ANYBODY AT ANYTIME

So when Instructor Bill Cronin at Columbus Park, South Boston told his playground pupils to bring around vehicles for a race this is the set-up he faced. Director Cronin is starting the race at left. Vehicles represented, all of 1927 model and design, are bicycle, tricycle, scooter, buckboard and cart. Only thing missing is a baby carriage and that probably was in use.

DEMPSEY IS SEVEN POUNDS OVER WEIGHT

Chicago, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey ends his first week of active duty at his Lincoln Park training quarters today still with about seven pounds to get rid of before meeting Gene Tunney in Soldiers Field, next month.

Manager Leo P. Flynn made known that the ex-champion scaled around 203 and would get down to about 196 in time for the fight. Jack went through four rounds of sparring with three of his stable mates yesterday and finished the day feeling better than at any time since coming on from Los Angeles.

Dempsey's discolored eye, the consequence of his first sparring bout Wednesday, apparently did not worry the ex-champion as he warmed up his mates yesterday.

Spanish-American Ocean Race Planned

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Plans for the Spanish-American ocean yacht race next Summer from New York to Santander, Spain were announced here today by the committee which assessed them during the New York Yacht Club cruise.

In the absence of Ambassador Alejandro Padilla y Bell, the chairman of the race committee, Charge d'Affairs Mariano de Amezola presided, with Secretary Henry Howard of Newport, Commodore Corinthe Nichols of the New York Yacht Club and Commodore Charles Francis Adams of the Eastern Yacht Club attending.

It was tentatively agreed to divide the racing fleet into two classes, one of craft under 50 feet waterline to be commanded and navigated by amateurs and sailed on a time allowance, and the other of unlimited size with no time allowance. It was expected that the smaller craft would be given a head start, so that all may finish near together. King Alfonso has offered a trophy for the race.

U. S. Mermen Win at Honolulu

Honolulu, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Four crack swimmers from the mainland last night defeated teams from Japan and Hawaii in the 800-yard relay event of the National Amateur Athletic Union's annual outdoor swimming championships.

George Rojac of the Boys' Club of New York, Walter Lauzer, Cincinnati Y. M. C. A.; Harry Glamuzi, Pennsylvania Athletic Club, and Johnny Weissmuller, Illinois Athletic Club, negotiated the 880-yard in the record time of 9 minutes 20 1-5 seconds. The best former time for a four-man 880-yard relay was 9 minutes 35 seconds.

The Japanese team finished second.

CADDY TOURNAMENT AT CHARLES RIVER MONDAY

Members of the Charles River Country Club will exchange places with the caddies Monday morning when the bag-toters' field day will be observed. The youngsters will do the playing and the members will be carrying the clubs over their shoulders.

An 18-hole qualifying round for the club caddies' championship will be played before noon, and then the youngsters will be treated to a real old-time lunch.

KAPLAN WILLING TO MEET WALLACE

New York, Aug. 27.—Whether Billy Wallace, hard hitting Cheshire land lightweight, is dodging another meeting with Ki (Kid) Kaplan, sturdy Meriden plugger, will be determined in a few days. Although Kaplan has been signed to box over the Western boxer, a battle between him and Sid Terris already having been suggested by the National Boxing Association, Kaplan is willing to stake all on the outcome of another bout with Wallace.

Three clubs are at present negotiating to bring the pair together. George Mulligan is anxious to bring the match to Waterbury, Ct., while the Queensboro Stadium is eager to get it for September 12, and the Garden for October.

Comeback for Goldstein

New York, Aug. 27.—Ruby Goldstein is about to attempt another comeback. He has three fights in view, one at Long Branch, another at Philadelphia and the third at Ebbets Field. No dates have been set nor opponents named.

WALES BOOKED TO SAIL ON SEPT. 7

Chicago, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Although the Herald and Examiner said today that the Prince of Wales was one of a party of four Englishmen for whom reservations for seats at the Dempsey-Tunney fight here on Sept. 22 had been made, the Canadian Pacific steam lines officials here said they had no information of any change in the itinerary of the Prince.

A telegram received today by R. S. Elsworthy, general agent of the lines here, from headquarters in Montreal, stated that the present plans of the Prince and his party called for sailing from Quebec on Sept. 7.

Fay Thomas Put on Ineligible List

New York, Aug. 27.—Fay Thomas, young right hand pitcher of the Giants, was yesterday declared ineligible by Commissioner K. M. Landis. The commissioner ruled that Thomas is the property of the Oklahoma City Club of the Western league but that he will remain on the ineligible list until he reimburses the Giants to the amount of $2,500 which the club gave him for signing.

Thomas was on a motor trip with several pals in 1925, while a student at the University of Southern California. Their flivver got as far as Ottumwa, when the car ran out of gas. The only way out of the difficulty was for Fay to go and get a job as a pitcher. He signed with the Ottumwa Club under the name of Collins, pitched five games and secured enough money to continue the motor tour.

At the end of the season, Ottumwa sold him to Oklahoma City, under the name of Collins. In the meantime, Waco Sam Crawford had recommended Thomas to the Giants and Charlie Stoneham peeled $2,500 off the U. S. in exchange for his signature.

The Giants sent Thomas to Buffalo for seasoning last year and sent him back this year, but recalled him later. He has worked in several games as a relief pitcher. Thomas is going back to California to get enough dough to reimburse the Giants and then will join the Oklahoma City Club. Under what name he will play while earning the money he did not state.

FAST TROTTERS ENTERED IN ESSEX COUNTY FAIR

Some of the finest two-year-old trotters in the east are entered in the racing events to be held September 14th to the 17th, at Topsfield Fair, Essex County's 106th Agricultural celebration.

The entries follow: Nelson Weaver, entered by W. H. McGarry of Chatham, N. Y.; Maple Express and Axworthy Express, entered by C. W. Lasell, of Whitinsville; Carotheus, entered by F. and C. Lombard, Ellenville, N. Y.; Helene Express, entered by Kent and Parie, Newmarket, N. H.; Gaiety McGregor and Emma McGregor, entered by L. W. Kenney of Lynnfield; Mistress Day and Auries, entered by F. L. Burke & Son, of Rowley; Miss Rosemary, entered by James L. Grady of Beverly, and Long Lashes, entered by Don Keefe of Peabody.

NATIONAL RING BODY BATTLES N. Y. SOLONS

By ED FRAYNE

New York, Aug. 27.—The boys from the provinces broke out in revolt yesterday. They are fed up on the autocratic rulings of the New York Athletic Commission.

Led by Thomas E. Donohue, president of the National Boxing Association, several States that are now affiliated with New York are planning to sever diplomatic relations. The point at issue is the queer passing of the light-heavyweight championship from Jack Delaney to Mike McTigue.

DONOHUE IGNORES N. Y.

Donohue, who is also the sole boxing commissioner of the State of Connecticut, does not intend to recognize the New York action by which McTigue was appointed champion. He has arranged a championship tournament of his own, which will start Monday night at Hartford. Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo will meet Maxie Rosenbloom of New York in a fifteen-round contest and the winner will be matched with "Tiger" Flowers, t. former middleweight champion, in what will be recognized as a title match.

Donohue's plan, as made public yesterday, has been approved by boxing commissions of Maryland, Ohio, Kansas, Georgia, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Nebraska, Illinois and Canada.

ALSO MAT BREAK.

This means that Michigan and Connecticut are quite likely to sever diplomatic relations with New York. Under present agreements, they are obligated to recognize all rulings of our State Athletic Commission. Pennsylvania and Massachusetts are also affiliated with this State. Donohue has called the annual convention of the National Boxing Association at Toledo on October 13, and at that time he will start an open warfare on the New York boxing authorities.

Donohue's indignation was aroused because the New York board refused to discipline McTigue for failing to fulfil a contract with a Boston club. McTigue was matched with Larry Gaines there on May 15. Donohue claims he has taken up the matter repeatedly with New York, but has received no satisfaction. Toronto is affiliated with the National Boxing Association.

One of the Toronto club's officials came to New York to see James J. Johnston, manager of McTigue, after McTigue had been appointed champion. He reported that Johnston had been very "grruff" with him.

It is doubtful if the New York commission forced Delaney to sign a paper in which he relinquished his championship "to Mike McTigue." Donohue wants to know why Delaney was barred Olympia as the particular individual; if so, why not Slattery or Tommy Loughran?

LANGFORD WILL BOX MANOLIAN

The Argonne A. A. comes thundering down the field trail again next Monday night with a 50-round barrage that should provide the fans with a real evening of hard fighting. Matchmaker Eddie Mack will present the fans with 16 fighters, eight bouts, bantamweights, featherweights, lightweights, welterweights, middleweights, light heavyweights and heavyweights.

In the windup Monte Munn, the big 220-pounder, will make his second appearance in the ring since Gates, the Mohawk Indian from North Adams, as his opponent.

The program will read as follows: In the opening four rounder Eddie Holmes of Fawnucket will meet Charlie Manolian of Marlboro. They put up a good fight at Braves Field a few weeks ago.

SECOND BOUT—A good four rounder Tim McCoy of Providence will try to annex a win over Frankie Moore of Lynn. Both are fast boxers and clever ring champion. The other four rounder will bring together Jerry White of Boston City and K. O. Brown of Fall River.

In the six rounders Buddy Clark of Salem will throw punches at Joey Champ of New Bedford. Champ is going big in the second six rounder Manual Canto of the North End will meet Lewis of the South End.

These two lightweights should furnish a crowd pull. The final six rounder will bring together Pete Stamerty of Nashua, N. H., and Ted Coolidge of Marlboro, Mass. Both are slugging light heavyweights and should make a great battle.

JACK DEMPSEY Tells of Comeback

Jack Dempsey Discusses Peculiar Ethics of Former Champ on Their "All Comers" Tours

(Copyright, 1927, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FROM John L. Sullivan's time to mine, practically every champion went on one of those "all-comers'" tours. Perhaps a thousand men came forward in the effort to win the cash prize for staying four rounds. But, only two fellows ever gathered in the money.

They were "Tug" Wilson, who held off John L. for four rounds, and Jack Munroe, who stood up before Jim Jeffries for 12 minutes.

Wilson never got anywhere through his feat, for the simple reason that he didn't try through a single second of the entire time, to put up a fight. All he did was to run, duck and dive around so that Sullivan never could get a crack at him.

Munroe, as a result of staying four rounds with Jeff, was given a crack in a world's championship match nearly 25 years ago. He was knocked out in two rounds, but he was paid about $6,000 for his performance—which was "big money" for a loser's end 25 years ago.

All the others, except that trio usually got nothing but a bad beating. Almost always the champion found no trouble in knocking out the "all-comers." When he did find trouble—well, he usually got help from his handlers.

A STORY is told concerning Stanley Ketchel that seems to illustrate this point. Stan was one of the greatest fighters that ever lived; a murderous puncher who usually stopped the top notch ringmen in a round or two. And, naturally, a hitter so terrific as he was, rarely found trouble stopping an "all comer" who would step up and try to make at least a little fight of it.

But there were a few occasions when fellows would climb into the ring with Stanley and duck and run until there wasn't a chance in the world of Stan hitting them in open warfare unless he tossed punches at their backs.

"We always had a little trick to defeat fellows like that," one of Stan's former handlers told me. "Stan would stop trying to hit that bird and just concentrate upon getting him to a clinch. Then he'd jockey that bird to the back of the ring.

"THIS ring generally was on the stage of some local playhouse. There was a drop curtain right back of the rear of the ring. When Stan would drag that fellow to that spot he'd try to beat him down with short punches in the clinch. If he failed, he'd turn the fellow around so that his head was up against the drop curtain.

"Then Stanley would give the signal, and of course, in the back of that curtain, would take a good healthy swat at that fellow's head with a club. As it landed, and the fellow was crumpling, in Stan's arms, Stan would smack him one on the whiskers, let him fall—and no other 'sucker' would go into the list of those who had failed to stay four rounds with the champion.

"But," added the fellow who told me the story, "there was a certain club involved in that trick. One night Stanley gave the signal and we hit the head that was being pushed against the curtain. It happened to be Stanley Ketchel's head —not the sucker's dome—and we nearly keyoed Stanley."

Far East Olympics Open in Shanghai

Shanghai, China, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Five hundred athletes, representing Japan, the Philippines and China, are participating in the eighth Far Eastern Olympic Games which opened here today. The games will continue until September 3.

MANDELL AND SANCHEZ IN BOUT AT LYNN

San Sanches, Mexican bantamweight, crawls through the ropes to do battle with Tony Mandell, the Worcester Firecracker," at General Electric Field, Lynn, Friday night. He will find himself pitted against one of the fastest opponents he has ever encountered.

Mandell is one of the best action giving performers now boxing. Tony has beaten such rugged boxers as Cowboy Wallace and Bibby Hindley. The "Firecracker" has also outepoyed Young Montreal and has battled a draw with Vic Burrone, the great bantamweight from Greenwich Village.

San Sanches comes to Lynn with the reputation of being a heady, clever boxer who will need all his reputed boxing skill if he is to stand off the rushes of the aggressive, two-fisted Firecracker from Worcester.

CHIEF METOQUAH BLAMES CROWD FOR HIS DEFEAT

New York, Aug. 27.—Chief Metoquah, the cigar store Indian who folded up in one round before Monte Munn the other night, received his dough from the boxing commission yesterday. The chief claimed it was the crowd and not Munn that frightened him stiff. If Metoquah was around when Manhattan Island was sold the Dutch would have probably got it for nothing.

Moore Makes Third Hit and It Cost Babe Ruth $300

Detroit, Aug. 27.—The Yankee camp teems and thrills at the feat of Wiley Moore in joining the 300 class as a hitter. But instead of a decimal point, there's a dollar sign before the first digit. The $300 represents some of Babe Ruth's hard earned cash.

Long ago, somewhere in Florida, so the story goes, the Babe watched Wiley swing at few balls without even getting a foul and scoffed. Mr. Moore resented the implication that he couldn't hit.

"Why, I'll bet you $300 to $15 you don't make three hits all season," offered the Babe.

"I'll take it," said Wiley. And so the bet was made.

Moore made his third hit Friday.

DR. CROUCH LEADS ARCHERS

East and West divided chief honors in the 47th annual target meeting of the National Archery Association of the United States, a four-day tournament, at Soldiers Field.

Dr. Paul W. Crouch of Newton Center, who lost his men's championship last year to Stanley F. Spencer of Club Archers, had the satisfaction of regaining his title during the present series, finishing the championships play with a total score of 2,554, while the defending champion had to be content with fifth place and a 2,372 tally.

While one Californian was beaten, another won, and a Western star went down to defeat when Mrs. Robert Johnson of Los Angeles, a newcomer to championship play, dethroned the defending women's champion, Mrs. Dorothy Smith Cunningham of Brookline, who had won the title six times.

Mrs. Johnson ran up a total score for the four rounds of play of 1960, while her local rival secured 1826 points.

The new titleholder gained her championship after a hard fought battle over the long range, the 60 and 50-yard distances, running up a 40-point lead in the two final shoots, while she ran six behind on the Columbia, the 30, 40 and 50-yard ranges.

FLOWERS TRAINING FOR BOUT WITH ANDERSON

New York, Aug. 27.—Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion, is in hard training for his ten-round feature against Joe Anderson at the Garden, Thursday night. Anderson is the fellow who fought Dave Shade a gruelling tussle in his first start here a couple of weeks before.

Matchmaker Jess McMahon has paired Farmer Joe Cooper against Billy Algier in the semi-final.

FRANCIS HERSEY WINS WORCESTER C. C. OPEN

Worcester, Aug. 27.—Francis Hersey of Wellesley won the Worcester Country Club golf invitation tournament, defeating Wilton A. Whitcomb of the Worcester Country Club 4 and 3 in the finals. Hersey continued his good golf that brought him victory in his first and second rounds yesterday, while Whitcomb appeared to be away off his game.

TERRIS-MARTINEZ BOUT STILL A POSSIBILITY

New York, Aug. 27.—That fight between Sid Terris and Hilario Martinez scheduled for the Queensboro Stadium on Sept. 12, may be postponed a week or so on account of Sid's busted gilmmer, but it will not be removed from the calendar.

JONES 6 UP ON EVANS AT 15TH

Bobby Shooting Brilliant Golf in National Amateur Tournament

final round of the National Amateur Golf Championship.

It was just a case of Jones, the magician all over again as birdies and eagles were interspersed with pars and when Bobby hopped off the first round by getting a great 3 on the par 5 ninth, Chick simply shook his head sadly and then summoned a dazed smile.

Chick had shot a nice nine in 37, himself, yet he naturally didn't win a hole on the outward journey. However, he never stopped his bid to keep pace with the wild man he was playing, and even refused to concede an eagle at the ninth until he had taken two shots in the trap at the edge of the green.

That eagle that Jones scored there possibly was an even more sensational effort than his medal score, since he did better than that early in the week when he got his 67 to win the qualifying medal.

SCORES BIRDIE 3 ON 10TH.

He got the eagle with two great wood shots, his brassie second being 8 feet from the pin. Chick hit his drive to the rough, but made a fine mashie shot to the fairway and then attempted to pitch on with his third. The ball hit the bank at the edge of the green and fell in a trap. He took another stroke there and then gave it up.

The nine hole cards follow:

Jones . 4 3 3 4 4 3 4 3 3—31
Evans . 4 4 4 5 4 3 4 4 5—37

Statisticians at this point made the interesting discovery that for 204 holes of this tourney and the last British open that Jones was 13 strokes under par.

The course was a bit heavy from overnight rains and an overcast sky held more than a hint of storms at a none too distant moment.

They halved the first hole in par 4's, both getting long tee shots. Evans had the honor and his ball nearly reached the rough at the right. Bobby's was longer, finally bringing up on the practice fairway to the right.

Chick's pitch on was 40 feet away from the pin and he ran the approach putt dead for his par. Bobby almost got a 3 from a distance of 30 feet, the putt hitting the back of the cup and staying out. Bobby became 1 up by winning the second with a birdie 3 against Chick's par 4.

BOBBY SETS CROWD WILD.

Bobby pulled his drive again at the second, but he kept it out of the rough and on the next shot he dropped his approach within 3 inches of the cup, while the crowd went wild. Evans, 15 yards ahead of Bobby off the tee, pitched on to within 20 feet of the pin and got down in two putts for his 4. Bobby, of course, had a certain birdie. Jones then won the third with a 3 to be one 2 up.

Bobby's mashie shot from the tee here stopped nicely only 15 feet from the flag, while Evans' was strong-armed over the green and into the rough. He missed one shot down there and then replied with a beautiful chip to within a foot of the cup, making it necessary for Bobby to score with his second putt in order to win the hole. Bobby did. Jones became 3 up by winning the fourth with a 4 to Evans' 5. This represented Bobby's second birdie in four holes played and his third successive win. The hole was played in a light drizzle, but the gallery stuck gamely on.

EVANS IN ROUGH

Evans' drive off the fourth tee drifted into the rough, but his lie was good and he came through with a fine long spoon shot to the fairway. Jones' second, however, was just as good and then they both got home with great thirds, Chick's being three feet off the pin and Bobby's four feet away. However, Bobby sank his putt and Chick missed his, becoming 3 down. They halved the fifth in par 4's, Bobby remaining 3 up.

Jones' tee shot just stopped a yard in front of a bunker while Evans' landed in the short rough to the right. Both then pitched on nicely, Chick's ball being 10 feet from the cup and Bobby's 6 feet away. Neither could sink his first putt and they took a half in 4's. The short sixth was halved in 3's, Bobby staying 3 up.

To this point Jones was exactly three under even 4's, giving indication that another of those better-than-seventy rounds of his might be in the making. It had also stopped raining at this point.

Evans was well off the tee at this lake hole, his ball landing on the seventh tee. Bobby, meanwhile, had lofted his tee shot onto the green forty-five feet from the cup, from which point he got down in two putts. He had to do so, at that, Evans making a great recovery that almost holed out. It stopped fifteen inches from the pin for a par three. They halved the seventh in 4's, Jones remaining three up.

JONES FOUR UP.

Evans, himself, was exactly even 4's to this point, yet Jones' mastery was so complete that Chick was trailing by 3 holes. Both hit good tee shots and were just off the green with their seconds, Evans being hole high to the left and Jones reaching the far edge. Jones' chip shot was too strong, 4 feet past the cup, but he sank the putt for a par 4. Chick used a jigger to drop his third 3 feet beyond the pin. He also sank his putt. Jones became 4 up by winning the eighth with a 3 to a 4.

Bobby drove to the traps on the left of this 234 yard hole and Evans' tee shot was short of the green 35 yards. Chick pitched on 15 feet too strong and when he missed his putt by inches, he took a 4.

Jones meanwhile was 10 feet from the pin with his second shot and he sank the putt, the gallery going wild. Jones then electrified the gallery by getting an eagle 3 on the ninth, Evans being conceded an approximate 4.

Then they went on to the ninth where Jones got a birdie 3 against Evans' 5 to become 6 up.

Evans lost the tenth first because he failed to get home with his second shot and second because Jones was still Jones. He hit a long straight drive and then placed his iron approach six feet from the flag.

Next he sank the putt for a winning birdie 3 to be 6 up. Evans meanwhile was wide with his approach and too strong with his third, finally taking a 5.

EVANS WINS 11TH.

Evans won the eleventh with a 2 to a 3 to cut Jones' lead to 5 up. It was Chick's first win of the round.

Both hit the eleventh green with their tee shots, their balls being about 15 feet from the pin. Jones ran his approach putt up nicely, six inches short, but Chick hit the bottom of the cup with his for a birdie 2.

At the twelfth, they took a half in 4's, Jones remaining 5 up. Both hit good drives but Bobby spanked his second and failed to get home. He chipped his third 8 feet short and sank the put for a 4. Evans had a good second, 20 feet from the pin, but his approach putt stopped inches short and a half in 4's was the result.

They halved thethirteenth in 4's, leaving Jones 5 up.

Bobby got the longer ball off the tee and used an iron to get home with his second on a 447 yard hole. Chick took a brassie and also found the green being a few inches off. Bobby faced an approach putt of 40 feet and he was all of 6 feet short.

Evans ran his approach putt, a dandy, one foot over the cup for a sure birdie 4. He looked like the winner of the hole, but Jones calmly sank a 6-footer for the half.

Both got 5's at the fourteenth to halve the hole, Jones remaining 5 up. Their drives were straight down the fairway but Bobby's ball was longer by 20 yards. Evans' iron went over the green into a trap while Bobby mashied to the same spot.

His out left him a 10 foot putt while Chick's was a beauty, stopping two feet from the pin. Bobby's putt just rimmed the cup and Chick had a great chance to win with his two-footer but he missed it, to take a half in 6's.

At the fifteenth, Jones got a winning 4 against Evans' 5 to become 6 up again.

Chick was off the line most of the way at this hole, driving to the rough and playing a long iron to the rough at the right of the green. Jones got home nicely with his second, 20 feet from the pin. Evans chipped up 9 feet beyond the "flag," then Jones approach putt stopped a foot from the hole for a certain 4. Chick, putting for a half, failed to get down with his 9-footer and lost the hole.

IN THE SWIM FOR HANDSOME CUP

REAL WOMEN'S TEST OF ENDURANCE

Is the famous Boston Light swim and tomorrow this big event will be held. In this picture Ex-Fire Commissioner Teddy Glynn is holding the cup that will be awarded the winner. The girls, all starters in the swim, are regarding the cup with envious eyes. Left to right in picture are Teddy Glynn, Virginia Murphy, Mrs. Irene Hesinius Smalley of Point Shirley, Winthrop, holder of the Boston Light swim record for women, Virginia Day of Point Shirley, Winthrop, Mary McCullough and William H. Hanson who is directing tomorrow's swim.

Mr. Boston Is Off for Wide Open Places

By Jack Conway

MR. BOSTON wasn't a great deal concerned with boxing, baseball, golf and such things when he breezed into the sporting department today.

"I just received a postal card from Happy Robinson, heavy big wig, who is away at the West End House Camp at Parsons[illegible], Maine," said the veteran. "He tells me he goes fishing, swimming, boating and hunting to his heart's delight. As I read Happy's message, I decided that it was about time that I packed my own bag, tossed my golf clubs over my shoulder and started for somewhere along with the missus and the two kids.

"I think I'm entitled to some sort of a vacation after having been obliged to watch some of the fights which have been handed up this year. I have always had a warm spot in my heart for the poor old sport writers after having been obliged to carry along my portable typewriter and sit in with the rest of the gang at these so-called major league boxing attractions.

"But that's not here nor there. I'm going to get out into the open air for a while and forget all about the professional sporting racket. That's one great thing about vacations. They usually take one into the wide open places. Then we do a little exercise.

Mr. Boston

"I NEVER was very strong for exercise indoors. I have always felt that if one is to derive real benefit from exercise that he must get out into the wide open places and breathe in God's fresh air.

"So I'm going to some place where they don't have boxing wars and other disturbances. And if anybody asks my opinion about a box fight, I'll suggest that he leap into the ocean and cool off.

"So long, boys. Sorry, but there won't be any telephone at the place I'm going to."

HOGAN DAY CELEBRATED AT WIGWAM

By NICK FLATLEY.

James Francis Hogan, young Hercules from Somerville, is to be honored at Braves Field this afternoon. While the high flying Braves are playing a double header with the groggy Pittsburgh Pirates, the friends of James Francis will be gathered at the ball park. [illegible] real sensation with loving cups and purses and the various things that [illegible]

It will be the biggest afternoon of several seasons, provided the weather is agreeable. Young Mr. Hogan has become as popular as a new Babe Ruth in the few months of his sensational big league career. The Braves are running wild knocking the National race all to flinders.

First they pulled the Cubs back to the pack by taking three games in a row. Now they have won two out of three from the Pirates and have dropped that club down into third place.

[illegible]

THE Braves have won five games out of six from the league's [illegible]. They have collected 12 out of their last 1[illegible]. They have climbed from the cellar into sixth place in a fortnight and are now only a game and a half back of the Cincinnati Reds, who head the second division.

This new Tribal drive is something more than a flurry. It has been going on long enough to make it evident that the team has real championship qualities. It comes too late to mean anything for Boston but it will decide the pennant winner in the league and the fans are getting a real kick from the [illegible]. The Pirates [illegible] the greatest team ever tossed together but their battles fade and [illegible] when the Tribal assault cuts loose. The team just lacks that mysterious something of which champions are made.

Nick Flatley

It looks right now as if the Cardinals might get up to the sagging Cubs, unless the Giants decide to keep stepping along, and make the world series another of those all New York affairs.

BOSTON fans today, though, will be out cheering for Frank Hogan, the rookie of the Spring, who is now a big league hero. Frank has a fractured wrist, and will do no catching for a couple of weeks but he will be cheered just as loud ly this afternoon as any native who happens to get a homer with the bases full.

The city of Somerville has been planning this day for the matter of a month or more. A flock of money has been collected, and a batch of tickets have been sold.

The recent surge of the Brave club makes the occasion perfect. It was five years ago this month that the Wigwam was filled to capacity for a Saturday doubleheader with the Pirates. The Braves had hoppped from nowhere into second place, and seemed to have a chance to win the flag. The team flopped on the next western trip, but it furnished a temporary thrill.

The same thing is happening again right now. Big crowds have been out at the Wigwam all week. There will be [illegible] empty seats this afternoon if the sun decides to shine.

JOHN HENRY WERTZ and Bobby Smith were nominated to do the pitching. John Henry has looked like a real star in his last few starts, while Bobby, usually good against Pittsburgh, worked less than an inning in the [illegible] double header. He should [illegible] back.

The Braves want to [illegible] the Pirates. It's a cinch that if the [illegible] they lose the first game they will send Kent Greenfield after the finale. This young man has now picked off five games in a row from the Pittsburgh club.

He pitched a three hit game Thursday, but he didn't have to tire himself doing it. And he's all set for work. If his wishes were followed, he'd be in there working every day.

Rain Halts Tennis Match at Newport

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27 (I.N.S.).—With the courts swamped by a heavy downpour of rain, the final round match of the Casino Invitation tennis singles tournament between William T. Tilden, 2d, and Manuel Alonso, both of Philadelphia, was postponed this afternoon until tomorrow.

Play in the final round of the doubles between George Lott of Chicago and John Doeg of Santa Monica against Tilden and Francis T. Hunter was also postponed.

Bike Races Put Off

New York, Aug. 27.—Cold weather and an occasional sprinkle of rain caused the postponement of the races scheduled for the New York Velodrome last night. The next program will be tomorrow night.

Inside Golf

By Chester Horton

I am convinced the average of golf would be much better if the average player would take time [illegible] to [illegible] of competent instruction. And a good thing to make a part of such instruction would be to have your pro hit a few balls for you as a part of his effort to show you how [illegible] be made. Al Espinoza, the star pro of the [illegible] Chicago, does that for his pupils and it aids them greatly. Al has championship form and a wonderful smoothness of action—he is one of the most effortless golfers in the country. Having your pro do that for you, you will get a mental picture of how the action should be accomplished. When it is mentally pictured, the muscles respond more readily. That is why your game picks up considerably when you play a round with a good shooter.

Jellies and Jams for Use in Winter

By MARTHA LEE

THERE is nothing on the household calendar, with the possible exception of canning, which gives the housewife so much solid satisfaction the amount of effort exerted as the time spent in making jellies and s for winter use lly making is no longer a mat- of luck. It may be as certain two-and-two, if a test of the t juice is made before attempting to make jelly. Two factors in which fruits differ to a great extent are pectin and acid.

A few fruits, such as currants, tart apples, unripe grapes and cranberries have the ideal proportion. Then these should be tested before adding the sugar, as the amount of water used in extracting the juice may have been large.

To test for pectin, place a spoonful of hot juice into a glass and add the same amount of alcohol. Wood or denatured alcohol may be used, but do not taste the result. If a firm jelly, which can be lifted with a spoon without breaking forms, one cupful of sugar to one cupful of juice may be used.

The majority of fruit juices demand this amount of sugar. If the juice of a fruit which ordinarily makes a good jelly does not respond to this test, it may have been weakened by using too much water in cooking the pulp, in that case the juice should be cooked down and another test made.

Many persons are inclined to add too much sugar by the "cup for cup" method, but too much sugar makes a gummy jelly which will not mold, while too little sugar produces a tough product.

There is no practical test, except that of taste, for the acid content. Quinces and blackberries lack acid while peaches, pears, strawberries and raspberries contain little or either pectin or acid. Combined with the juices from green grapes or sour apples, however, we get most satisfactory jellies with delicious flavors.

In making jelly do not try to make too much at a time. Two and one-half to three quarts of juice can be managed successfully. Use just enough water to keep them from sticking. Mash while heating gradually, and cook until the pulp loses its color. Strain the juice through a wet flannel jelly bag and let it drip without pressing.

To make a second extraction after the pulp has stopped dripping, return to the kettle, adding enough water to cover, cooking gently for twenty minutes and strain through the jelly bag. Test the juice for pectin, and if you got a good test you can cook the pulp again for a third extraction.

The first extraction usually makes the clearest jelly, but it may be combined with the other extraction and the amount of sugar needed may be determined from testing the mixed juice. To test, dip the spoon into the juice and hold above the kettle.

When two drops hang together from the side of the spoon the jelly is ready to remove from the fire. Skim the jelly and pour into hot glasses; when firm pour hot melted paraffin over the top. After the paraffin is cold the glasses should be covered with tin lids or with tight paper covers.

These are general directions, and practically all jellies can be made by following this method:

CURRANT JELLY—Pick the currants when dry and wash them. Squeeze or mash into a preserving kettle and cook slowly until the juice look shriveled and empty. Strain through the colander and allow the juice to drip through a jelly bag. Measure back into the kettle, bring slowly to the boiling point and boil five minutes. Add measure for measure of sugar, boil for a few minutes longer and test with a spoon.

Remove from the fire at once and pour into the glasses, placing a hot spoon in each one as it is filled, to prevent breakage. When cool, pour hot melted paraffin over the top and when paraffin is cold, cover jars with lids or paper covers.

Strawberries, raspberries or blackberries can be made into jelly by this same recipe, but in the case of strawberries and raspberries it will be necessary to combine with pectin.

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE

This way to better icings

EXPERT cooks who have learned "a thing or two" about icings from long experience, tell you that the richest, smoothest, creamiest, easiest icings in the world are made with Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk. And here's the reason!

Standard is a delicious blend of full-cream country milk (from which most of the water has been removed) and finest sugar. Because it is so rich and thick and smooth and creamy, icings made from it require no cooking—no laborious "testing"—and are always sure to be perfect in flavor and consistency. This recipe will prove it!

Chocolate Icing

2 squares of unsweetened chocolate
½ cup Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk.

Melt the chocolate over hot water; add the Condensed Milk; slowly stir smooth and continue stirring over hot water for one minute until it thickens. This may be spread on the cake while the cake is hot or after the cake is cool.

Not only icings, but desserts, salad dressings, hot breads, ice cream, candies—any dish, in fact, that requires both milk and sugar—will be made better by Standard Sweetened Condensed Milk. Because so much of the water has been removed, it is more than twice as rich as bottled milk. Get this extra goodness into your cooking! . . Watch this space for other delicious recipes.

And tomorrow morning—try Standard in your coffee! It creams-and-sugars, both at the same time—deliciously—at one-half the cost of separate cream and sugar . . . Get Standard from your grocer today. It keeps for days after the can is opened—even without ice!

"You Said It, Marceline!"

-:- On Forty and Fascinating -:- By Marceline d'Alroy

FORTY seems to give a man a sort of EQUILIBRIUM. Reaching it, he Swings CLAMLY between the PAST and the FUTURE, with no indecent haste.

And once he has reached that FASCINATING AGE he becomes less contemptuous—of LIFE. It seems, to reach FORTY is to reach A MILESTONE in a man's life.

If he is MARRIED, he often becomes more Married. That is, more RECONCILED to Having got "THAT WAY." And he takes His wife LESS seriously, and his GOLF MORE so.

If he is NOT married, and anyone WANTS To marry him, he probably lets her WAIT. Forty, it seems, is often a VERY ATTRACTIVE age in a man—for many women.

Dr. Reed Tells of Antitoxins

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOU are hearing nowadays more and more about antitoxins. They are the agents used for the cure of certain infectious diseases more particularly diphtheria and scarlet fever. Antitoxins have, indeed, dobbed these dreadful diseases of most of their terror. You ought to know about antitoxins.

An antitoxin is something that destroys the toxins, or poisons, that are generated by germs in the human system. If we could kill the germs themselves and not destroy the toxins they already have generated the patient might go on and die.

To destroy the toxin we have to make an antitoxin. This was first done successfully for diphtheria. The diphtheria bacillus, like that of scarlet fever, lodges in the patient's throat and fills the blood with toxin, which causes some of the serious complications like paralysis and heart trouble. If the bacillus (germ) is grown in a test tube and the cultures filtered through clay, so that none of the microbes remain in them, the resulting fluid contains the diphtheria toxin. When this is injected into the body it produces the same effects on the nerves and heart as if microbes were present.

Now, when the blood encounters a toxin, it always reacts by producing an antidote, or antitoxin. To make diphtheria antitoxin, therefore, small quantities of artificial diphtheria toxins, and then progressively larger ones, are injected into a horse until the horse's blood becomes a thriving antitoxin factory. The effect on the horse itself is a very slight one, because the graduated doses allow it to become accustomed to the poison by degrees. When the horse is fully resistant small quantities of its blood are drawn off and the serum with the antitoxin in it is extracted. Antitoxin is not a substance that can be isolated from serum, nor does anybody know clearly what it is. For practical purposes it is simply a property that the serum possesses.

Antitoxins are now used against diphtheria, scarlet fever, lockjaw spotted fever, snake bite and many other complaints. Their use is to give an artificial protection for a short time. They do not, however, help the blood to help itself in any way. Their immunity is called "passive," since it is simply the immunity of another person or animal injected into the blood of a patient.

The way to give people "active" immunity is to inject the toxin into their own blood instead of into the horse or other animal, so they are not le to manufacture their own antitoxin. When they can do this they are often immune for life. ■ practice the toxin is given mixed with antitoxin, which makes it harmless while just as effective.

Corn-Meal Beauty Aid

Prima Donna of the Metropoli an Opera Company and One of the Most Beautiful Women of the Day.

DID it ever occur to you that corn-meal, the humble ingredient of coarse bread and porridge, can be put to beauty uses?

Yet you may derive quite as much benefit to your beauty from the use internally and externally of cornmeal, as from expensive and elaborate lotions and creams.

We all know ■■ value of the coarse meal made from corn on the cob as the English call it, as a healthful article of diet. This meal, like oatmeal and other coarse cereals, helps bodily elimination by acting as a brush to the intestines. Corn bread will help you in overcoming constipation and it also has a high nutritive value. A bowl of cornmeal mush or thick porridge, with plenty of milk, is a favorite supper dish of childhood days, and it might well be ordered more frequently by the woman who places high value on her beautiful beauty. For whatever aids digestion, and banishes constipation, is a direct aid to complexion beauty.

You will, if you are wise, choose corn-bread in preference to white, not only because it is delicious when well made, but because of its value to your health and complexion.

Food value is only one of the advantages of corn-meal, however. Cleanliness without and within is the secret of beauty, especially complexion beauty. Corn bread and corn-meal porridge help to clean the system of impurities, and corn-meal applied externally is cleansing to the skin.

It is hard to keep the skin clean, under modern conditions, with dust, soot and smoke to combat.

After cleansing your face rub a handful of corn-meal into your skin then wash it off with cold water. The corn-meal will penetrate the pores and bring out impurities lurking there. Also, it has a smoothing effect on the skin.

Rubbing a painful of corn-meal over your arms should banish goose-pimples and rough pores.

Is your face too sensitive to endure soap-and-water cleansing well? Then rub over it with the palms of your hands the following mixture:

Corn-meal, a handful.
Benzoin, a few drops.

Rinse off the corn-meal with water.

There are countless other beauty uses for corn-meal. But the few I have listed prove, I hope, that it will be well worth your while to keep a china or glass jar filled with good old-fashioned corn-meal within convenient reach of your toilet shelf.

Where's Emily?

by CAROLYN WELLS
Author of "The MYSTERY GIRL"

Story of a Girl Who Did Just What She Chose and Then Took Flight

Emily Duane is about to marry Rodney Sayre, conservative, and scion of an old New England family. Emily, parentless, is extremely wealthy, charming, high-spirited and impulsive. Hindu mysticism is her fad. She wills a large sum to Swami Lal Singh, her teacher.

Two days before the wedding Emily decides to have a rehearsal of the ceremony. Burton Lamb, best-man-to-be; Betty Bailey and Nell Harding, bridesmaids; Polly Pennington, matron of honor, and her husband, Jim; Pete Gibby, Betty Bailey's beau; Emily, Rodney and Emily's Aunt Judy are talking things over, and among the subjects is Emily's bequest. The will announces is cancelled when she becomes Rodney's wife. The Swami overhears and is incensed.

Emily then gets a message that Mrs. Kitty Laurence, a dear friend, has become a mother, and she drops everything to go to the hospital. It develops that Polly Pennington has left with Emily. Jim Pennington waits for his wife, but gets nervous after a while and phones the hospital.

Neither Emily nor Polly has been there——

Police are called in to investigate the mystery and they find Polly Pennington at the bottom of a ravine nearby—dead.

Emily's fur-piece and a diamond necklace that Rodney had given her as a wedding present are found with Polly's body. The inquest is under way, and the court is making its decision. Was Mrs. Pennington murdered? Where's Emily?

CHAPTER XVIII

THE sight of those diamonds sent a fresh shock through Pennington's shattered nerves, and through his weary brain there raced one theory after another as to what it might all come to mean.

He knew more than the rest of Emily's squabbles with Polly, squabbles that sometimes developed into real quarrels.

With Polly's ultra-emotional nature and Emily's spitfire ways, there was often friction. Why the girls remained friends at all, he could never quite see. But between fights they were amiable, chummy and often affectionate.

Pennington knew all—or nearly all—about the Atlantic City escapades, and had long ago forgiven a wife for those.

But these diamonds, now. How would they be interpreted?

He never had admired Emily vastly, she was too animated, too selfish. To him she was merely one of Polly's friends. But these diamonds! He wondered.

The court was speaking.

"Where did you find these, Johnson?"

His calm tones steadied the lad, and he replied, in a low tone, "Just where I found the fur piece, sir."

"They were together?"

"Maybe a few feet apart, sir."

"Why didn't you turn them in before this?"

"I—I wanted to keep 'em, sir."

"Steal them?"

"Yes, sir."

"I see."

To the listeners it seemed that court's calm quiet hypnotized the witness into simple statements of truth.

"And why didn't you stick to your denial just now, and keep your story?"

"Because," the voice sank to a whisper, "because the devil gets those who rob the dead."

"As a matter of fact," said Winston, quietly, "it made you shell out. You would have kept them fast enough, devil and all, if I hadn't forced your hand."

"No, sir," said McGuire, earnestly, "no, sir. I dreamed last night, after that I—I couldn't keep 'em."

"Well, never mind your dreams. Did you find anything else in the ravine?"

"No, sir," and the words rang out with finality.

"Did these diamonds belong to your wife, Mr. Pennington?"

"No," was the answer.

"Do you know to whom they do belong?"

"I am not sure that I do."

"Can any one present identify these jewels?"

There was a pause, and then, seeming it his duty, Burton Lamb said:

"I can. They are a part of a necklace belonging to Miss Emily Duane. I mean, they look like that, cannot say for certain, of course."

"Miss Duane possesses a necklace of similar stones?"

"Yes" Lamb almost wished he had kept silent.

"Is Miss Duane's necklace still intact?"

"That I do not know," returned the perturbed Lamb.

"Does any one here present know?"

Apparently nobody did, for there was no response.

"This inquiry is not in regard to or in investigation of Miss Duane's disappearance," the court said, "We are merely eliciting such facts as may be obtainable in the case of Mrs. Pennington's death. Mr. Pennington, will you detail the proceedings of your wife and yourself yesterday afternoon?"

So, Jim Pennington told again the tale of their going to Emily's tea.

He told of their departure, after saying good-bye to Emily, who, made no them no mention of her intent to go out on any errand.

"Therefore," asked the court, "which left the house first, Miss Duane or you and your wife?"

"I've no idea! After we said goodbye, Miss Duane turned away, and after a word or two with Mrs. Bell, we came away."

"What time was this?"

"It is always hard to say precisely. I should judge it was almost exactly five, but nearer than that, I don't know. I left Mrs. Pennington for a few minutes to go over to Wallace's for some cigarettes, and she said she would wait for me on the bridge. She often did that. When I came back, she was not in sight, so I went on home, thinking to find her already there. But she wasn't. That's all I know."

"Mr. Pennington," and whether suggestively or not, the court dangled the diamonds from his fingers, "have you any theory as to how your wife came by her death?"

"It isn't a question of theory, but it is my belief, founded on certain knowledge, that she purposely and knowingly committed suicide."

"What is your certain knowledge?"

"Her continued declarations that she would do so, and the fact that she had made some unsuccessful attempts."

"She was not entirely responsible, for a great grief in her life left her in a nervous state that resulted in occasional attacks of nervous excitement that amounted to hysteria and mild dementia, at times. I am telling you this, to explain why I feel certain that Mrs. Pennington threw herself over the ravine bridge of her own accord, though perhaps not quite rational at the moment."

He excused the witness, and sat for a few moments without speaking.

"At this point it seems necessary to inquire of her family and friends at what hour Miss Duane left her home yesterday afternoon," declared the court.

Burton Lamb was spokesman. As Rodney Sayre's best man, it was his part to do anything and everything in his power to save old Rod any trouble or bother. And it was too bad to expect Aunt Judy or the girls to answer.

"We've gone over that question pretty thoroughly," Lamb declared "and none of us can place the hour nearer than about five. You know yourself at a pleasant party one doesn't watch the clock in case of being called as a witness, Mr. Sayre was the last one to speak to her in the house, for he was in front of the door when the butler saw her leave by a side entrance and he said it was about five. He's more likely to know than the guests."

"Yes, of course," the court nodded "Where did she go?"

"She started for the hospital, but we are told she never arrived there. We fear foul play, perhaps abduction for ransom, or robbery of her jewels. That piece you have is but a small portion of a long rope of diamonds given her by her fiance as a wedding present."

"And she was wearing it when she left the house?"

"We think so."

"Don't you know so?"

"How can we? She might have chosen to leave it behind at the last moment. It might have been stolen by a sneak thief."

The court's finding was: Death by accident. Whether alone at the time, or in the company of another person, there is not sufficient evidence or data to determine.

'The Catspaw'; Ladd Promises to Stand by and Help Out Sylvia

CHAPTER 30.

ALEXANDER LADD'S call to police headquarters reached an inspector of detectives and was relayed, eventually, to a higher official—the highest—for the murder of James Ackerman was stirring the entire department.

"Will you step out of the room a moment, please?" he asked Sylvia, as he took up the phone for a moment. While he talked in secret, she complied her Line by in a small reception room. Presently, he called to her and she re-entered the living room.

"I have done this much," he said, "you won't be arrested. Not for the present, anyway. You are going with me to police headquarters and tell your story there, in the presence of the commissioner and an assistant from the district attorney's office. I don't suppose it will be possible to escape the reporters—it might not be wise to try. If the police try to make your story don't get rattled. Stick to the truth."

They descended to the street where Ladd's car was waiting, the sinister destination was given the chauffeur and they sped downtown. Two hours later the ordeal was over. The men who had questioned her had been mature, grave, alert to everything she said. The commissioner, it developed, knew Alexander Ladd and, obviously, respected him. Never before, Ladd waited in an outer office while Sylvia was examined. Then, all at once, it was over.

In turn, she waited in the outer office and Ladd himself was closeted with the officials. When he reappeared his face was serious.

"I think I had better take you to your own home," he said. "You live with your parents, don't you?"

"Yes—and I would like to go home," she admitted. The thought of the Ackerman house, now, filled her with dread; what she wanted most of all was the security of home of father and mother. The coldly solemn air of Ladd was filling her with suspense. "What did they say—about my story?" she inquired almost helplessly.

"I had to battle with them," he asserted gravely, "to keep them from locking you up, after they heard it. If I hadn't extracted a promise from the commissioner not to withhold an immediate arrest you would be in a cell by now. What they want, of course, is to give safe in the main, I think they believed me. If Jake Liggett can be found and the crime fastened on him there won't be much trouble for you, Gilmore, I may have to defend you in court."

There was a solid quality in his assurance that ran through Sylvia like a strong tonic. When he said a thing it had supernatural weight of an established fact. Sylvia recognized that he was not bothering to bolster her up with empty words of cheer. He was entirely frank in explaining the seriousness, but his promise to stand by her gave her an unquestionable sense of security. "I will do it," she put it, could not, of course, be denied.

"This is going to be harder on my mother and father than it is on me," she said, as the automobile slowed up in a mass of other motorists waiting for the traffic signal.

Ladd's face was enigmatical "Your parents won't be out. They'll be shocked, but by a month or two from now, that will be a little damaged, I don't see how it can be avoided. I am the one who will be hit the hardest."

Sylvia's eyes widened with surprise. "But how? I—I had nothing to do with it."

"The aftermath is where I come in," he said. "If I am a good lawyer, battle it'll have to be done pretty well in the line of attorney in my position as a retained lawyer, considerable conversation with my clients—the ones who deal with underground connection with a street corner who stands in the neighborhood of most particularly savory killing. Somebody whose cases require a denied front as a matter of policy. Public service corporations, for instance. Things like this have an indirect bearing in the courts. But, of course, it doesn't matter in the least. I shouldn't have mentioned this at all, I'm sorry."

Sylvia examined him from the tail of her eye; he was looking straight ahead his eyes dark pools of concentration. But there had been no note of complaint in what he said, no regret. He had merely stated the truth, as a mathematical formula.

A reluctance to have him involved—even though he seemed to take a weight off her shoulders—grew upon her. He was, after all, in her eyes, a figure of importance, the biggest man she knew. In a way, a small way, she understood that he must be dragged down a bit if he is to be free. Liggett can be found and the crime fastened on him there won't be much trouble for you, Gilmore, I may have to defend you in court."

Correct Manners

Informal Details

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

1. My wedding is to take place at the church, after which a dinner will be served at a hotel for the bridal party and immediate family consisting of eight people. Is it proper to send out church invitations or announcement alone?

2. The minister performing the ceremony is a dear friend of the bridegroom and through permission, is marrying us at our church. May we invite him to our wedding dinner as we know he would not accept the usual minister's fee?

3. The groom, best man and my brother, who is giving me away are wearing navy blue suits. Is it proper in this attire to wear wing collars and navy blue bow ties with white dots? If so, what kind of shirts should they wear?

A BRIDE-TO-BE.

ENGRAVED invitations are usually sent out for the formal church wedding. You do not say how many guests you are to have and how formal your wedding is to be. On these two facts depends whether or not you send formal invitations but I judge from the fact that the gentleman are to wear informal attire that your wedding is not to be formal. Therefore it would be quite as correct for you to write personal notes as invitations if you wish. Then you might—and it is correct, if you wish—send out engraved announcements to those friends who were not invited to the church ceremony.

2. Yes, it is gracious and correct to invite the clergyman to the wedding dinner. If he is married you should also invite his wife.

3. Yes, with the lounge suits of this kind, wing collars are correct as are turn-down collars also, and bow ties, too, are correct. However, usually four-in-hand ties are more becoming to most men than bow ties, and that is why the bridegroom often chooses to make his attendants wear four-in-hands ties rather than bow ties. White shirts are best to wear with this attire.

Friendly Criticism

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Would you please settle this dispute for us. Mr. A. says that it is not proper for a friend to criticise his manner of dress. Mr. B says that it is his duty as a friend to correct the error. Which is correct?

ANXIOUS.

MR. A. is correct. Unless a friend is given this privilege of criticism he has no real friends.

There are subtle ways of suggesting things of this kind that are very effective, and these, used tactfully, are to be recommended rather than the blunt method of direct criticism.

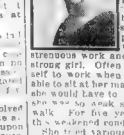
IS A HEALTHIER STRONGER GIRL

Because She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the ashes of America. This is possible thru the magic of the humble turnip.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to lay at none for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 113 Willow St., Silverton, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

Misplaced Faith—By SEGAR

ASK YOURSELF, "IS IT WORTH WHILE?"

ARE you contemplating a chance scheme with that money it has taken years of hard work to collect and save?

Someone has presented a rosy and inviting picture of what you might have, if you invested in his proposition.

You want old age comforts, and one lucky investment might provide the wherewithal.

The smooth salesman has convinced you that you are bound to be successful, if you are swift to act on his suggestion, of course.

But what if the plans fall through, and you lose?

The supersalesman quotes—"Nothing venture, nothing have."

That is true, but you might be worse off than nothing.

How is that proposition going to involve your finances?

Are you at the age when you can afford to take chances?

Have you an extra sum of money to invest, or must you risk your old age funds?

If your best working days are over, go easy, don't risk your all.

Get advice from your banker before you spend on investments.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Best Joke," Boston Evening American.

Wife (at 2 a. m.): "Wake up, John, wake up! There's a burglar in the next room."

Husband (sleepily): "Well, I've no revolver, you go in and look fagers at him."

MISS EMILY PETERS, Libby Avenue, Reading.

MEDBURY SAYS---

SO many people are claiming that their ancestors rode to this country on the Mayflower that it's now considered very ultra to have missed the boat.

ONE man says that his great-grandgrandmother waited for the next vessel in order to avoid the riff raff.

BESIDES, the Mayflower was landing at Plymouth and she wanted to go to Kokomo, Indiana.

SHE was very popular with sea captains. She even had a chance to come to America on Noah's Ark.

BUT it's a good thing she changed her mind. It rained on the entire trip and she didn't have any umbrella.

THOUSANDS of people have gone crazy on the subject of genealogy. They want the name of every monkey that swung from the branches of their family tree.

ONE woman spent $3,500 to have her pedigree written up, and after she read the report, she spent $2,500 more to have it torn up.

SHE discovered that two of her ancestors had been horse thieves in a one-horse town.

SHE pictured both men as being very nervous because the records showed that they were high strung.

THEY were strangers in the village, but they soon got on to the ropes.

THIS woman is a crank on lineage. She won't even eat a hot dog unless it's registered with the American Kennel Club.

SHE wants a pedigree with every frankfurter.

IT'S nice to have illustrious ancestors, but people who brag about their relatives coming to this country on the Mayflower don't stop to realize that maybe the immigration laws weren't so strict in those days.

Famous Composers

THE year 1813 gave to the world two of her greatest composers, who, strange to say, were destined never to meet—Richard Wagner, born in Leipzig on May 22, and Giuseppe Verdi born in Roncole, Italy, on Oct. 30.

Verdi was the son of a poor innkeeper who was in no position to educate his son in music, for which the child early in life showed such aptitude. However, the organist of the town taught the boy all he knew. Verdi entered the employ of Antonio Barezzi, a wealthy merchant, and as was the custom with an apprentice, became a member of his household. Barezzi, becoming interested in the boy's musical tendencies, arranged for him to go to Milan to study.

While in Milan, Verdi's compositions attracted the attention of the conductor of La Scala, the Milan opera house, who engaged him to write operas for production at that famous place.

In the meantime, Verdi had married Margherita Barezzi, the daughter of his patron. She helped him through many difficiculties even to the extent of pawning her jewels to raise money with which to pay the rent. Four years after their marriage, Margherita and the two small children which had blessed their union died. This tragedy threw a decided shadow over Verdi's composing and it was not until "Nabuchodonosor" was produced that he received the recognition due his genius.

In 1839, Verdi married Guiseppina Strepponi, and, as a well-known writer expresses it, "they lived happily ever after."

It is to be regretted that many of Verdi's compositions have not stood the test of time, his later compositions being so far superior to his early efforts that they are the ones with which the world of music is most familiar.

The magnificent strains of "Aida," the tuneful brilliancy of "Rigoletto," the resonant loveliness of "Trovatore"—these are among some of the better known of Verdi's compositions which were written during his prime. But when one recalls "Otello" and "Falstaff," which were written when Verdi was an old, old man, one may well wonder at the glory of his achievements and forgive him for his earlier failures.

Verdi's wife died in November, 1897, and on January 27, 1901, Verdi died in Milan.

The legacy of beauty in operatic music which Verdi left to the world is a priceless one if in no other way than in the joy and happiness which his music will bring eternally.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Sour milk will often remove iron rust from white fabrics.

Stews and soups are improved by the addition of an apple in slices.

Potato peelings, chopped small, or crushed eggshells are excellent for removing stains inside a water bottle or narrow-necked vase. Drop the peelings or eggshell inside, place the hand over the mouth of the article and shake vigorously.

Ceilings will not peel if washed over with a quart of water in which an ounce of alum has been dissolved.

When papering the walls with thin paper, apply the paste to the wall instead of to the paper, then the latter is less likely to tear.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS:

VERILY, like an ingrowing hair, is a woman who seeketh to penetrate a man's motives and to learn what lieth beneath his skin and his professional manner!

Yea, she is a cinder in the eye or a thorn in the side, which he longeth in vain to pluck OUT!

For a man may cheerfully reveal the workings of his automobile and of his business office; but the workings of his mind and his heart he holdeth more sacred than his Masonic secrets. And to be asked the "why" or the "wherefore" of his words and acts, tormenteth his soul!

Yet, as a ferret, doth an inquisitive woman burrow into a man's reserve and dig up his hidden reticence. She filleth him with rebellion and dismay!

For he knoweth in his heart that he is always guilty of SOMETHING; and whatsoever she may unearth, it shall be held against him.

Yea, whether it be an old love-letter, a cherished sentiment in the back of his consciousness, a hidden bill in the back of his wallet, or a moth-eaten sweater in the back of his clothes closet, he shall have to EXPLAIN it!

He is as a small boy waiting to have his ears washed, a prisoner waiting to plead guilty.

Go to. Every man cherisheth his "reservations," and demandeth that his secret "reasons" be left inviolate. Yet, he dreadeth with all his soul the woman who attempteth to lift the hood off his mental, moral and emotional engine and to reveal its secret workings.

Let WHAT women back can re-spect for the "No Admittance" sign upon her husband's private opinions and personal feelings?

There are no dark corners in his soul which she doth not seek to expose and to "clear up."

She seeth through his shining shirt-front, his flawless alibis and his white-washed surface, and spyeth the spots upon his conscience!

She seeth through his office manner and perceiveth his weakness for his stenographer.

She seeth through his evasions, and knoweth all that lieth at the back of his mind, his chiffonier drawer, his brief case and his lightest act!

Verily, a wife's CURIOSITY is never "idle"! Nay, it is harder to evade than a searchlight and more penetrating than an X-ray. For she never resteth until she had FOUND OUT!

Crude Petroleum Output At High Record Figure

Crude petroleum production in the United States last year totalled 770,870,000 barrels, a new high record figure, a statistical statement issued by the Bureau of Mines shows.

This represents an increase over 1925 of 7,131,000 barrels, or nearly 1 per cent. Of the total production, 633,726,000 barrels, or 82 per cent., was classed as light oil. This indicates a slight increase in the proportion of light oil production of 1926 over 1925, ascribed to the decline of Smackover, the principal heavy oil field of the country.

Major portion of the increase in production in 1926 was in Texas. Production in California, the leading producing State, dropped off approximately 8,000,000 barrels, but Oklahoma registered a gain of about 2,500,000 barrels and established a new record. Most important fields, from the standpoint of new production, were Spindletop, Deep Sand an Panhandle in Texas and Ventura Avenue and Huntington Beach in California.

Most important discoveries of the year were the Seminole field of Oklahoma and th Seal Beach field of California.

Imports of crude petroleum in 1926 amounted to 60,382,000 barrels, a slight decrease from 1925. A material decrease in imports of Mexican crude was nearly compensated by increased shipments from South America. Shipments of crude petroleum through the Panama Canal to Eastern ports in the United States decreased in 1926, but shipments of refined product were considerably higher.

Total stocks of crude east of California were reduced from 301,412,000 barrels at the beginning of the year to 284,168,000 barrels on December 31. This decrease of about 17,000,000 barrels was net result of 6,000,000 barrel increase in refinery stocks and a 23,000,000 barrel decrease in other stocks.

Producers' stocks, or stocks at wells east of California, were reduced during the year from 7,560,000 barrels to 5,904,000, the lowest point since the early part of 1922. Stocks of refinable crude in California were reduced about 30 per cent in 1926, while heavy stocks in that State were increased only 1,500,000 barrels.

Total value at the wells of the crude petroleum produced in the United States in 1926, was $1,447,760,000, an increase over 1925 of 13 per cent. Average price per barrel was $1.88, a gain of 20 cents over 1925. Outside of a small decrease in average value in the majority of Appalachian States, the only other State of decreased value was Montana, where it fell from $1.57 in 1925 to $1.32 in 1926.

On December 31, 1926, there were 318,600 producing wells in the United States, a gain of 12,500 over the preceding year. Average production per well per day was 7.4 barrels, the highest figure ever reported. Total number of wells drilled in 1926 was 29,319, of which 19,912, or 65 per cent. were oil wells, 2,341, or 8 per cent., were gas wells and 7,965, or 27 per cent. were dry holes.

ERSKINE SURE OF INCREASE IN TRADE

Returning from a business survey abroad, President Erskine of Studebaker Corp. holds an optimistic view on the outlook. He said: Studebaker's business in Europe is increasing rapidly, and promises to exceed last year by 200 per cent.

"Germany, France, Holland and Belgium seem to be prospering, and it should be a good year for business generally. Confidence is evident wherever I went, especially Germany."

BANGOR & AROOSTOOK AGAIN SHOWS DEFICIT

Bangor & Aroostook Railroad reports for July a deficit after charges of $108,529, compared with a deficit of $60,271 in July, 1926, and a deficit of $121,401 in July, 1925.

For seven months ended July 21 surplus after charges was $783,384 against $521,381 for the corresponding period last year and $494,429 for the first seven months of 1925.

NEW BEDFORD GAS NET PUSHES UPWARD

New Bedford Gas & Edison Light Co. reports net after all deductions for July of $83,628, against $58,765 in July, 1926. For 12 months net was $1,037,500, against $880,436 a year ago.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN 'HEADLESS BODY' CASE

New York, Aug. 27 (I.N.S.).—The imprint of a woman's French heel in the loose soil of an isolated gully in a wooded section of Queens County furnished the chief clue today by means of which police hoped to trace down a pair of murderers who slew an unidentified man, decapitated him, stripped him of clothing and buried his body under a pile of leaves.

The man's head had been cleaved from his body with a sharp knife and disposed of elsewhere.

The man, according to police belief, was murdered in Manhattan and his body taken in an automobile several miles to the spot where it was found.

A careful investigation of the spot where the body was found led detectives to believe that a man and a woman were involved in the slaying. The ground was marked where the body had been dragged into the gully, and near the spot were a man's footprints. Intermingled with these were the smaller impressions left by a spike heel—conclusive proof of the woman's presence at the scene.

To all appearances, the murdered man was a person of refinement.

FORD KEEPS SUDBURY BUSY

Sudbury, Mass., has yet another cause for being thankful that Henry Ford, richest individual in the world, a few years ago selected this little hamlet on the main Boston to New York highway for his favorite home.

It has just been announced that Ford will build a new road in Sudbury, over a mile long near his Wayside Inn, at a cost of $280,000. The State of Massachusetts has decided to accept this road as a part of its State highway system and will pay Ford $1 for his time and labor in constructing it.

Those close to Mr. Ford say that he doesn't mind the cost and that his real reason for building the new road was to divert heavy traffic, which was injuring some of his valuable antiques, especially some old crockery, from the Wayside Inn.

The new road which has already been laid out will provide employment for hundreds of families for several weeks, besides enriching the town with another mile of valuable roadway.

Added to his plans of constructing a new mill and dam in Sudbury at a cost of many thousands of dollars, Mr. Ford is providing plenty of work for the people of the town he loves this season and the town is accordingly waxing exceedingly prosperous.

The local real estate market is very active and property values are showing a remarkable increase.

MOTHERS HAPPY AT LOST LAKE

A beautiful children's playground under giant pine trees and with a gorgeous carpet of pine needles beneath comfortable swings and enticing seesaws for the little tots has been a big sales factor in the success of Lost Lake this season, say officials of New England's largest camp site community.

Good fishing, bathing, bath and boat houses as well as motor boats and canoes attract many people to this new resort in the Groton Ridges, but the mothers who influence ninety per cent. of the sales like the playground feature for their kiddies according to the management.

It is said that over 3,000 families have bought an average of two lots each at Lost Lake within two years and hundreds have built and are now occupying attractive homes about the pretty waters.

Lost Lake is in the township of Groton, Mass., just off the Mohawk Trail about 30 miles from Boston.

Reynolds Spring

Reynolds Spring Co. reports net loss of $28,876 for the first half of 1927 against net loss of $69,302 in the first half of 1926.

PLAYGROUND IN THE PINES

CHILDREN ARE SAFE AND WELL HERE

While weary mothers rest upon rustic seats and benches, their little ones romp and laugh in glee among the beautiful pine trees and upon the health-giving carpet of pine needles in the big children's playground near the clubhouse at Lost Lake, Groton, Mass.

REPORT SALES IN WATERTOWN

Oates and Marvin, No. 433 Mt. Auburn street, Watertown, report the following sales:

Thomas Levasseur conveys to Thomas McShane of Brookline the new two-family with 6,800 feet of land at Nos. 41-43 Hazel street, Watertown.

Mr. Levasseur conveys to Walter J. Oates the new two-family and two car garage at Nos. 37-39 Hazel street.

Lucy T. Duffy has sold to Peter D. Duffy of Watertown a lot of land on Francis street, Watertown, containing 4,816 square feet.

Peter D. Duffy has also purchased two lots of land located at the corner of Mt. Auburn and Francis streets. James J. Duffy gave title. The new owner will improve with two-families.

Frederic W. Bird of Brookline has purchased the new two-family house and two car garage at No. 20 Amherst road, Watertown. Title was given by John L. Andrews. The new owner buys for a home.

Oates and Marvin were the brokers.

BUY NEAR CITY SAYS EXPERT

"It's remarkable how carefully New England people are investing in real estate these days," says N. J. Poto, of the Workingman's Home Realty Trust, the company which has made a fine record this season at Crystal Lake Park, North Chelmsford, Mass.

"The big demand now is for development property within the 30 mile Boston trading zone. Home sites near water of course are the most popular and sell faster.

"Real estate buyers seem to sense the fact that a large city like Boston must eventually spread out and its growing population look for homes along well travelled highways.

"Among our largest sales this season at Crystal Lake Park have been some to investors from New England States outside of Massachusetts."

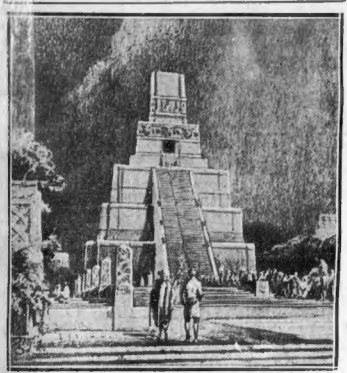
NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve us among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

The Original Setback

How High Will Buildings Go?



THE GREAT PYRAMID AT TIKAL IN GUATEMALA SHOWING THE ORIGIN OF THE "SET BACK" SEEN IN GREAT MODERN SKYSCRAPERS.

Mr. Alfred C. Bossom writes for the London Sphere an interesting article on the architecture of the world, past and present, with speculation on its future development.

Mr. Bossom describes the modern American building as almost a living being, its feet planted on the solid rock. Electric wiring represents the nerves, forced draft ventilation represents the breathing apparatus, heating pipes with steam represent the life blood of the building, etc.

Mr. Bossom foresees sidewalks within or without the future buildings at various levels, and buildings of great heights. This picture of an old building, now buried in the jungles of Guatemala shows interestingly the primitive start of the American skyscraper "setback" idea.

Whatever is useful is beautiful. All architecture and building is based primarily on USEFULNESS. You see magnificent ancient columns of marble, with perpendicular grooves all around the column. This began in usefulness. The column at the front door holding up the roof was grooved, that men coming home from the chase might lean their spears, outside the house, against the column, the groove holding them, as a perfectly round column would not do.

In our big cities the "setbacks" on buildings are based on usefulness and made compulsory by law. You build a certain height, then set the building back; build higher and set it back again. Thus you do not shut light and air from a narrow street.

This ancient building of early Americans in Guatemala, long centuries before Christopher Columbus ever dreamed of his trip, is built with setbacks for USEFULNESS. Setbacks make it possible for the staircase gradually to reach the top, where in all probability human sacrifices were offered, and their beating hearts torn out to please some imaginary god of the time.

Our modern setbacks are beautiful and decorate great cities, although based on usefulness entirely.

Whatever is useful is beautiful—our thoughts and our eye approve it.

Young ladies might remember this in their dressing and their painting.

Thanks to Mr. Mellon

We Grow Richer and Richer

This country is fortunate in having for Secretary of the Treasury Mr. Mellon, who understands money and has made several hundred million dollars for himself.

When you read that the Government, at the end of the fiscal year, finds itself with a surplus of six hundred and thirty million dollars, don't forget that that is IN ADDITION to paying off a thousand million dollars public debt.

The Government as a mere cash proposition is richer this year by sixteen hundred and thirty million dollars than it was a year ago.

That doesn't include increased wealth due to the development of resources and new ideas which represents, of course, many billions.

Scalps

They Insured Them Only 50 Years Ago

Fifty-five years ago "scalp insurance" was in vogue in Texas, so we learn from recently disclosed records of the Lone Star State.

A policy dated in 1870 shows that one G. S. Picket, contemplating a trip into West Texas, deposited the sum of seventy-five cents for "frontier protection" or, as it was popularly known, "scalp insurance."

Benjamin Franklin carried $5,000 of life insurance, which was effective only if he lived up to a number of restrictions. Should he desire to visit a city or travel west of the Mississippi, he had to obtain permission of the insurance company and pay an extra premium.

In those days cities meant smallpox and other epidemics, and west of the Father of Waters was a land wherein food and water were scarce and the attentions of the red-skins were pressing.

OUGHT IS BIGGEST ENGLISH WORD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE very best kind of man and the most useful to his fellows is the man who does what he ought to do.

There is but one cowardice, it is not doing one's duty. There is but one failure, the failure to discharge an obligation. There is but one sin, not doing what we ought.

The biggest word in our language is OUGHT. The man who keeps it bright within him, always visible and always revered, is a real man.

There is so much of the superfluous among us, so much glory in affairs that are none of our business, so much success that is essential treachery, and so much goodness that is but interesting meanness.

It is better to keep your word than to speak pleasantly.

It is better to tell the truth than to lie entertainingly.

It is better to be loyal than to be affectionate.

It is better to honestly earn wages paid you than to have grand ideas on the labor problem.

It is better to earn your living and take yourself off other people's backs than to be a saint or a genius.

It is better for you, if you are an employer, to give your workers fair wages, and a little more, to treat them with consideration, and to recognize them as human beings than to wring money from them to give to charity.

It is better to be honest toward women than attractive.

It is better for a woman to deceive no man than to win one.

It is better to pay your debts than to give to the poor.

It is better to have a little efficiency than a lot of knowledge.

It is better to do one good than speak many good words.

One earned dollar is worth more to you than a thousand given you.

"There are," said Elizabeth Inchbald, "persons who love to do everything good but that which their immediate duty requires. There are servants that will serve every one more cheerfully than their own masters; there are men who will distribute money liberally to all except their creditors, and there are wives who will love all mankind better than their husbands. We have acts of generosity, self-denial, and honesty where smaller pains would constitute greater virtues."

Duty is the egg of all goodness.

It is the primordial protoplasm from which all organized excellences develop.

Without it religion is hypocrisy, love is poison, activity useless, kindness cruelty, and every good quality as a red apple full of wormy meat.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

OUT-OF-STATE motorists frequently mistake the Brookline Reservoir for a natural lake, so well laid out is the basin overlooked by Boston College. One Newton motorist, stopping on two occasions near the Reservoir to give directions to apparently puzzled visitors, has been queried only on the name of the "pretty lake."

That the Telephone Company is perhaps unconsciously discouraging the public from getting the "telephone habit," when it instructs its operators to refuse the time of day, or night, to its patrons, has been pointed out to William H. O'Brien, chief of the telephone and telegraph division of the Public Utilities Department, by a surprised customer who met with the rebuff recently after discovering that his watch had stopped.

Deputy Commissioner of Penal Institutions William P. Bagley's home is one of the most attractive places in the Court Road section of Winthrop. After business hours the genial deputy can generally be found working about the lawn or putting a touch to the shrubbery and flower beds. When the tide is in the deputy joins the youngsters of the neighborhood in a swim in the harbor just across the street.

In one of the hundreds of windows of the buildings about Winthrop square, a lone geranium plant has been struggling for existence this Summer. Like the lone pine on a wind swept hill, this bit of green seems lost amid the piles of granite lining the busy square. The plant is owned by an employe in a factory, who manages to find time to set it out on the window ledge to get the sunshine and rain. Then when the day's work is done, he gives it shelter for the night.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

DEAN doesn't know what to make of Eloise.

Six months ago when they were first married, Dean thought that Eloise was the gentlest, sweetest little lady in the universe. Her shy manners, her soft voice, her fluttering, forget-me-not eyes had captured his heart. These assets didn't go over quite so big with Dean's friends. Some of them meanly said that Eloise was a Dumb Dora and a Flat Tire. But Dean called her his Little Blue Pigeon and thought himself the luckiest man in the world.

He doesn't call her his little Blue Pigeon now and he's beginning to have grave doubts about that luck. FOR DEAN HAS DISCOVERED THAT ELOISE MAKES SCENES.

The first one happened five weeks after they were married. They had given their first dinner party to Dean's "Old Gang." Eloise hadn't liked the idea of that party. Dean's friends were so noisy, particularly the girls. Didn't he know how awkward she always felt with such people? But Dean laughed it off. Why she'd be a riot with The Gang! Just wait until she knew them a little better.

But from the minute The Gang descended upon them it was evident that Eloise had no desire to know them a little better. Disapproval and resentment were written all over her pale, tight little face. She was a Mad Martyr and she let them know it. When the guests departed with all too evident relief, the storm broke and the horrified young husband witnessed his first Scene.

Out in a shrill flood came the hidden resentment of months. All she had endured—her loneliness—his boorishness—the affront of his vulgar friends.

In vain Dean tried to make her see that she had imagined it all. His protests only fanned the flames. She stormed herself into hysteria and then indulged in a prolonged and dramatic reconciliation.

The next day she was quite happy again—unusually radiant and affectionate. But since then there have been four other scenes and now Dean feels as if he were sitting on the edge of a volcano. He is. The volcano of a neurotic, selfish woman's jealousy.

These scenes, which are such a horror to Dean, are an intense relief to Eloise. Her timid, colorless personality places her at a disadvantage in Dean's happy, vociferous world. She feels that she can hold Dean's devotion if she is alone with him but she dreads contact with more vivacious, popular people. She is poisoned by fear and envy which she herself does not quite understand. If either she or Dean did understand it, they might conquer it and heal her sick, unhappy spirit. But instead the venom accumulates until there is an explosion. In that Scene she not only releases all her pent up fury, but she also attains that power which she normally lacks.

That is the pathetic story which lies behind many domestic tragedies. Andre Tridon in his book "Psychoanalysis and Man's Unconscious Motives," has this to say of Scenes—If you are given to Scenes, or are the victim of them, this information may be helpful:

"There is a class of persons whose organism constantly needs a stimulus. Certain glands of their body are deficient and that physical inferiority drives them to seek some thrill. Some of them take drugs, alcohol, strong coffee, etc., others make scenes. A good fight, seasoned with exaggerations, slander, misstatement, the raking up of a hundred old grudges, is to those people a first-class tonic. It flushes their faces, speeds up their breathing, makes their heart beat faster, creates in all their muscles contractions which mimic rather well athletic power, lets out of their system poisonous forms of activity, which they do not know how to utilize properly and all sorts of repressed death wishes. To them it spells relaxation to everyone else, misery."
